International,
national news

Events make history

Bicentennial renews citizen patriotism

International and national news highlights of 1976 affected millions, at home and abroad, and brought varied emotional reactions.

Two attempts to assassinate President Gerald Ford were unsuccessful as two women were apprehended at the sites in California. After months of hiding, Patricia Hearst, kidnapped heiress, was captured, tried and convicted for her participation in a bank robbery while with the Symbionese Liberation Army. The country celebrated its Bicentennial year with hundreds of festivities held throughout the nation. Some people grew weary of the numerous recollections of our 200 years, but others felt the occasion renewed the citizen's patriotism and help re-establish contact with the past. To highlight the year in sports, the U.S. took 10 medals at the Winter Olympics in Innsbruck, Austria. Bill Koch, 20, scored a big upset by winning a silver medal in cross-country skiing; the only other American ever to place in this event took 15th in 1932.

The Academy Awards brought glory to Oregon as the movie "One Flew Over The Cuckoo's Nest," filmed in the Oregon State Hospital in Salem, swept all the major awards: best actor, actress, picture, direction and screen-writing.

King thrills audience

Hepatitis scares,
a new governor,
soccer title matches,
and various assemblies
highlight 1975-1976

The nation's bicentennial year brought celebrations to our state, Portland, and Cleveland in the form of the Freedom Train, dancing, singing and drill team presentations.

"The spirit seemed to linger in the school for a long time after one of these assemblies, especially once we all recognized the significance of this year," recalled senior Lettie Richardson.

The presidential primary in May brought President Gerald Ford and major candidates (Ford, Reagan, Church, Carter, Brown) to the state as state and local politicians also waged campaigns to meet the voters' approval.

A hepatitis scare necessitated mass inoculations of thousands of Oregonians and the shut-down of a downtown restaurant.

The sporting world saw the Portland Timbers soccer team advance to the championship game, which they barely lost. Once again, the Trailblazers failed to make the National Basketball Association play-offs and rumors of possible trades blossomed.

Outside activities

Dancing, TV, skiing popular

Striving to experience a variety of activities, many took part in unique ways

Students in the Cleveland community were involved in a variety of activities taking place outside of school which many times went unnoticed.

Unusual interests included dancing lessons from the Portland Dance Theatre and television appearance on a public health service commercial, plus various hiking and skiing expeditions on Mt. Hood. Ski buses to the mountain were organized on several weekends by juniors Mark Gronvold and Pat Cooney. "We hoped Cleveland students enjoyed our weekend adventures," Cooney said.

Of course, many students had jobs, too. Expressing the feelings of many, senior Beka Ketel, who worked in a local restaurant, said, "Working enabled me to enjoy more of the expensive activities, which I have always wanted to try."

Fall Executive Council Works with community

"We really tried to respond to the needs of the school and community."

Margaret Norville, SB treasurer-elect

"This year the fall Executive Council's primary concern was improving community relations," related senior Peter Norman, president of the council.

Representatives from the mayor's office, Police Bureau and school administration were invited to inform the council about existing problems between the school and surrounding areas.

"Several cabinet members attended neighborhood meetings to try and help them understand community problems," Norman explained.

"The council tried hard to avoid a seven period school schedule and police patrolling," Miss Martha Ireland, activities director related. The council's fund raising events included, the Homecoming, United Way money raising activities, "Phantasmagoria" and the winter dance. "We planned a variety of assemblies with Charles King, the Shakespearean actors, the Bicentennial Chorus and 'Up With People'," Norman recalled.

"I was pleased with our cabinet's progress because so many of the officers had no previous leadership experience in student government."

Homecoming Publicity helps

Changes in this traditional dance seemed to encourage better attendance as the Social Activities Board worked hard to revitalize the homecoming celebration

Called "Indian Summer" in recognition of the late summer season, the annual Homecoming dance in October featured the selection of a "maiden" and a "chief" instead of the traditional queen.

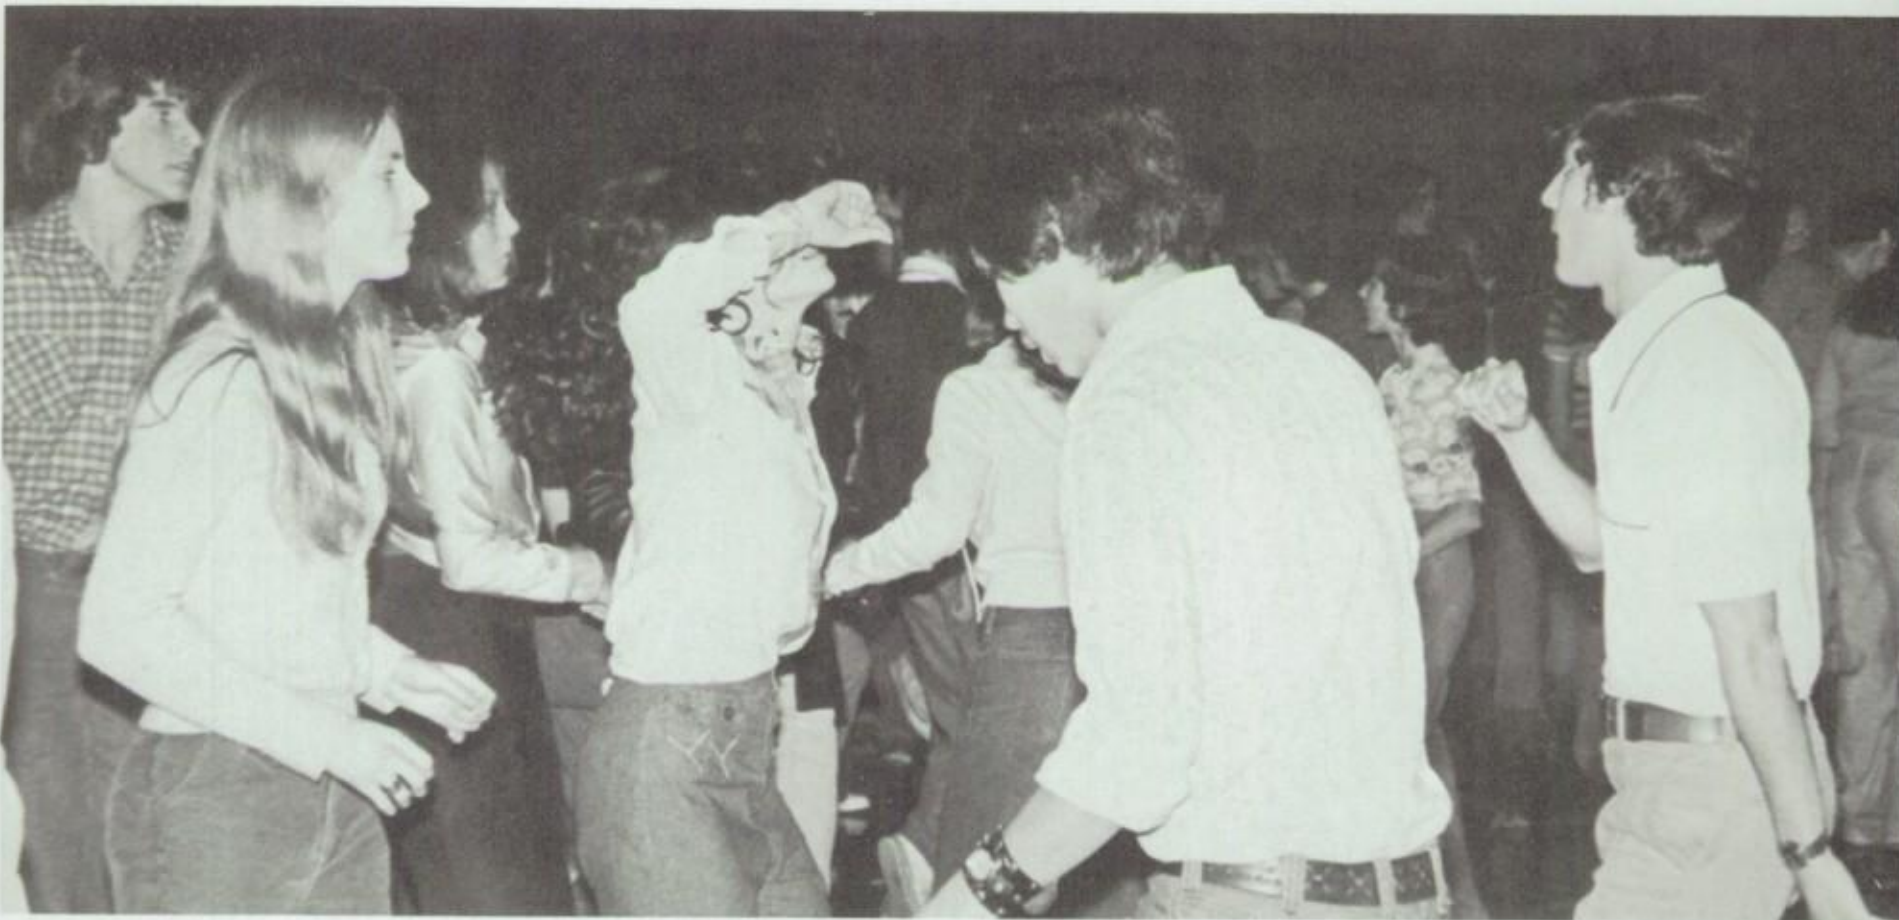

Senior Debi Fisher, the maiden selected by reg. room vote, had as her court senior Diana Fredericks, juniors Jenny Speight and Krista Keenan, sophomores Joan Emerson and Sandra Thornhill.

Senior Greg Lyons reigned as chief with his court of senior Tim Johnson, juniors Stu Templeton and Rick Doak, sophomores Henry Schultz and Dave Pope.

"The Social Activities Board worked hard to try and publicize Homecoming well enough to get student body involvement back," commented Fredericks, student body second vice president.

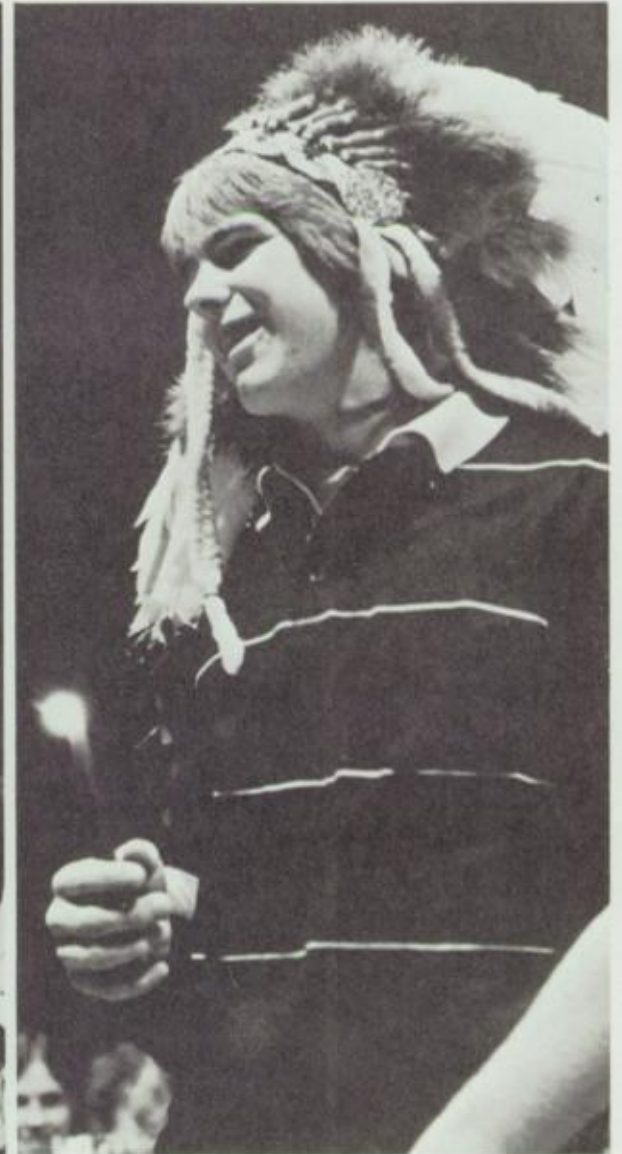

The student body seemed to have mixed emotions about the dance. Some felt the music of "Morning After" was too rowdy for the event. "I think more people would have danced if the music had been more calm," explained junior Tony Wente. Others disagreed and thought it was the best dance they had attended in a long time. "I liked it because it was more organized and involved more of the student body," summarized junior Laurie Exley.

The turnout was a little less than expected, but approximately $200 was earned.

Featuring the group, "The Agency," the fall Girls' League sponsored Twirp dance "was definitely the most successful activity we had this term," related Janet MacLaren, fall GL president.

"We had a good turn-out, and we made a $300 profit which made us really happy," MacLaren added.

Twirp King David Doak was selected at the dance by a vote of those attending. Other members of the Twirp Court included Clarke Leaverton, senior, Russell Stoddard, junior, and Marvin Hill, freshman.

Besides having a successful Twirp dance, "getting more girls involved in Girls' League was our main goal this year," MacLaren revealed. "The welcoming Big-Little Sister party, held in September, brought a lot of enthusiastic freshmen into our organization," the president said. "Hopefully, their interest will carry on for a few years."

A new activity for the GL cabinet involved helping serve at the Fall Varsity Awards Banquet, which was catered by the Monte Carlo Restaurant in November.

Christmas Dance Queen crowning changed

Christmas dance enhances annual season's spirit

The annual Christmas semi-formal dance, seasonally entitled "Silent Night," was held for the second year at the Portland State Ballroom in December.

"The Social Activities Board was pleased with the overall feelings about the Christmas dance," commented Diana Fredericks, senior. Featured at the dance was the group, "The Agency". "The group was terrific, but a little too loud," expressed sophomore Bryan McKenzie.

Voted on by classmates, the "Silent Night" princess court was composed of Sue Almand, senior; Kathy Whitfield, junior; Shelly Pierce, sophomore, and Kelly Graetzer, freshman. In a departure from the past tradition, the queen, Almand, was crowned by her escort, Tony Victor, senior, instead of by the student body president.

"The colors chosen for this dance, white and blue, were very appropriate. They seemed to compliment the time of year well," added Almand. "With approximately 100 couples in attendance, this activity helped to make Christmas more vivid and to enhance the spirit of the coming year."

Spring Executive Council

Cooperation an asset

"I liked working on the spring cabinet because everyone was willing to put out their share of work."

Colleen Soejima,
Secretary

"The spring Executive Council was a very enthusiastic and responsible group of students. The activities they took on were very successful," praised Miss Martha Ireland, activities director.

The cabinet's varied activities included a "Jet" Dance to help the class cabinets financially, Grover Cleveland's birthday celebration, the Alfred Hitchcock thriller "Psycho", student body elections, a Rick Trow multi-media production teenagers of the 1960's and 70's, the May Day carnation sale, the annual picnic in Powell Park and a mock national, state and local election.

"We all worked well together and accomplished a great deal," praised spring student body president Amy Joseph. "One of the best things about being on the Executive Council is that you learn a lot about yourself and how you work with other people. You also learn how to take criticism. I only wish that everyone in the student body could see how time consuming it is to be on the cabinet," she continued.

'Guys and Dolls'

Performances praised

"The musical was different from any other year, and the performance was excellent."

Marcia Maring,
senior

"Guys and Dolls," a love story woven around a mission, a night club, gamblers, and townspeople was the play chosen this year as the annual spring musical. Presented on the evenings of March 11, 12, and 13, "Guys and Dolls" boasted a 40 member cast, which began rehearsals in January.

The story line developed around the efforts of Sergeant Sarah Brown (Sandi Blinco), who tried to reform a top gambler, Sky Masterson (Clayton Brainerd), whom she loved. In the end, they married as the sub-plot revolved around Miss Adelaide (Diana Fredericks), a night-club singer and dancer, who tried to get her fiancée of 14 years, Nathan Detroit (Jason Phillips) to do the same. Of course, Miss Adelaide was successful, and they married, too.

Chief production director was Mr. Al Steffens and directors of the cast included Mr. Robert Kerns, orchestra; Mr. Bruce Johnson, choral; Mrs. Bevins Stocking, drama, and Mr. William Schaeffer, choreography. Mr. Norman Eng, art teacher, supervised the set design and construction.

Spring Girls' League Lacks participation

"We had a really good cabinet, and we tried to involve as many people as we could."

Jenny Gray,
Sophomore Rep.

Off to a slow start, the spring Girls' League cabinet planned the Father-Daughter Banquet for Valentine's Day at the Monte Carlo Restaurant." The turn-out was less than last year's, but we know everyone had a good time," related Barbara Teeter, president.

After the installation dinner at The Old Spaghetti Factory in January, the spring cabinet made some plans for the spring. On their agenda were a big-little sister party, a mother-daughter tea featuring a fashion show, and the state convention in April. At press time, no details about these activities were available.

"Very few girls ran for office this fall, but those who were elected showed lots of enthusiasm," explained Teeter.

Rose Festival

Queen Diana reigns

Royalty honors came to CHS after 15 years of waiting, and three performers received audience applause during the Coronation.

As 1975 Rose Festival Queen Heather Van Wessem presented her bouquet of roses to Diana Lynne Fredericks of Cleveland, the audience, in the upper section of the Memorial Coliseum, exploded in applause and cheers. Pom poms, posters and banners waved in the air as the ecstatic crowd voiced its pleasure with the selection of the 1976 Rose Festival Queen.

Cleveland had reason to be proud all evening since the Clevelandaires, the Boys' Quartet and CHS's reknown magician Eric Slade all had been featured performers during the Coronation.

The 1976 Queen was chosen princess of her school after Rose Festival Association judges had picked the six finalists, Marcia Maring, Melba McCormick, Diane Oringdulph, Amy White and Fredericks. White was voted Senior Prom Queen by her classmates.

During her reign, Queen Diana visited Cleveland with her court, presided over a variety of functions during the Rose Festival and represented Portland in Pasadena's Tournament of Roses Parade, and in Sapporo, Japan, Portland's sister city.

Senior Prom Exemplifies 'A Touch of Class'

Senior Prom
Royalty

"A Touch of Class," the theme of the 1976 Senior Class Prom, was highlighted by the crowning of a queen and red and white carnations surrounding a gold fountain.

Held on Saturday, April 24 in the Masonic Temple Ballroom, the Prom featured the group, "Viramonte and Company." "I thought the band played really good music, and I had a great time," commented senior Mitch Martin.

Approximately 150 couples attended the finale of the senior year and watched Amy White crowned Queen. Seniors voted at the dance for their choice; the new Queen's court was composed of other Rose Festival princess finalists, Marcia Maring, Melba McCormick, Diane Oringdolph, and Cindi Owens.

"The fresh fruit that we had for refreshments was delicious!" related American Fruit Stealer, senior Mary Romanaggi.

Volleyball Future's bright

Varsity looks to next year; JV and Frosh enjoy 'good'
season.

Despite a season record of one win and nine losses, the girls Varsity volleyball team members "didn't let this get them down. They kept a good attitude all year long," commented Varsity coach Mrs. Judy Dean. Outstanding players, claimed Mrs. Dean, were junior Myrna Slaughter and sophomores Jean Louie, most valuable player, and Tonja Reigle.

The Junior Varsity volleyballers completed what first year volleyball coach Ms. Pat Fraser termed "a successful season," tallying a 5 win - 5 loss record.

Outstanding contributors were freshman Debbie Phillips, the top scorer and most consistent server, and sophomores Malora Nydegger and Sherie Gamelgaard.

First year Freshman volleyball coach Miss Lynn Anderson described her baby Braves first victory over Grant and their last triumph over Franklin as their "high points of the season." Colleen Johnson and Patty Moyer were cited as the chief contributors for the season.

Varsity Football

Inconsistency hurts

Despite a fifth-place pre-season ranking, the Tribe kicked off its campaign with a startling upset of Wilson, but a loss to Madison seemed to dampen the team's hopes.

"It wasn't the best season we've ever had, but we finished it with a good taste in our mouths after our triple over-time victory against Jefferson, 7-6", commented head Varsity football coach Gene Flippin.

"Of course, the highlights of our season were our upsets of two top-ranked teams, Wilson and Crescent Valley of the Coast Valley League on their home fields," continued Flippin.

"Our team's attitude was one of our best characteristics and with leaders like our co-captains, Jon Floberg, Clarke Leaverton, and Steve Katrena, we didn't expect or have too many problems," he praised.

Finishing fifth in the Portland Interscholastic League's East division, Flippin looked on the season as a "decent" one. "We played some really tough teams, and we enjoyed some successes," he related.

Garnering All-State positions were seniors Floberg, offensive end; junior linebacker, Mark Gronvold and senior guard Greg Lyons. All-Metro selections included Floberg, second team offense; Lyons, second team defense; Gronvold, honorable mention, defense; and senior tackle, Steve Katrena, honorable mention, offense.

Outstanding players as chosen by the Tribe's coaches and the members of the team included Lyons as the Royal "C" recipient; Leaverton, Most Valuable Defense and Floberg, Most Valuable Offense. Katrena won the Best Hitter, a new award this year.

Win big game

"We improved as a team and individually. Our last game was a great victory."

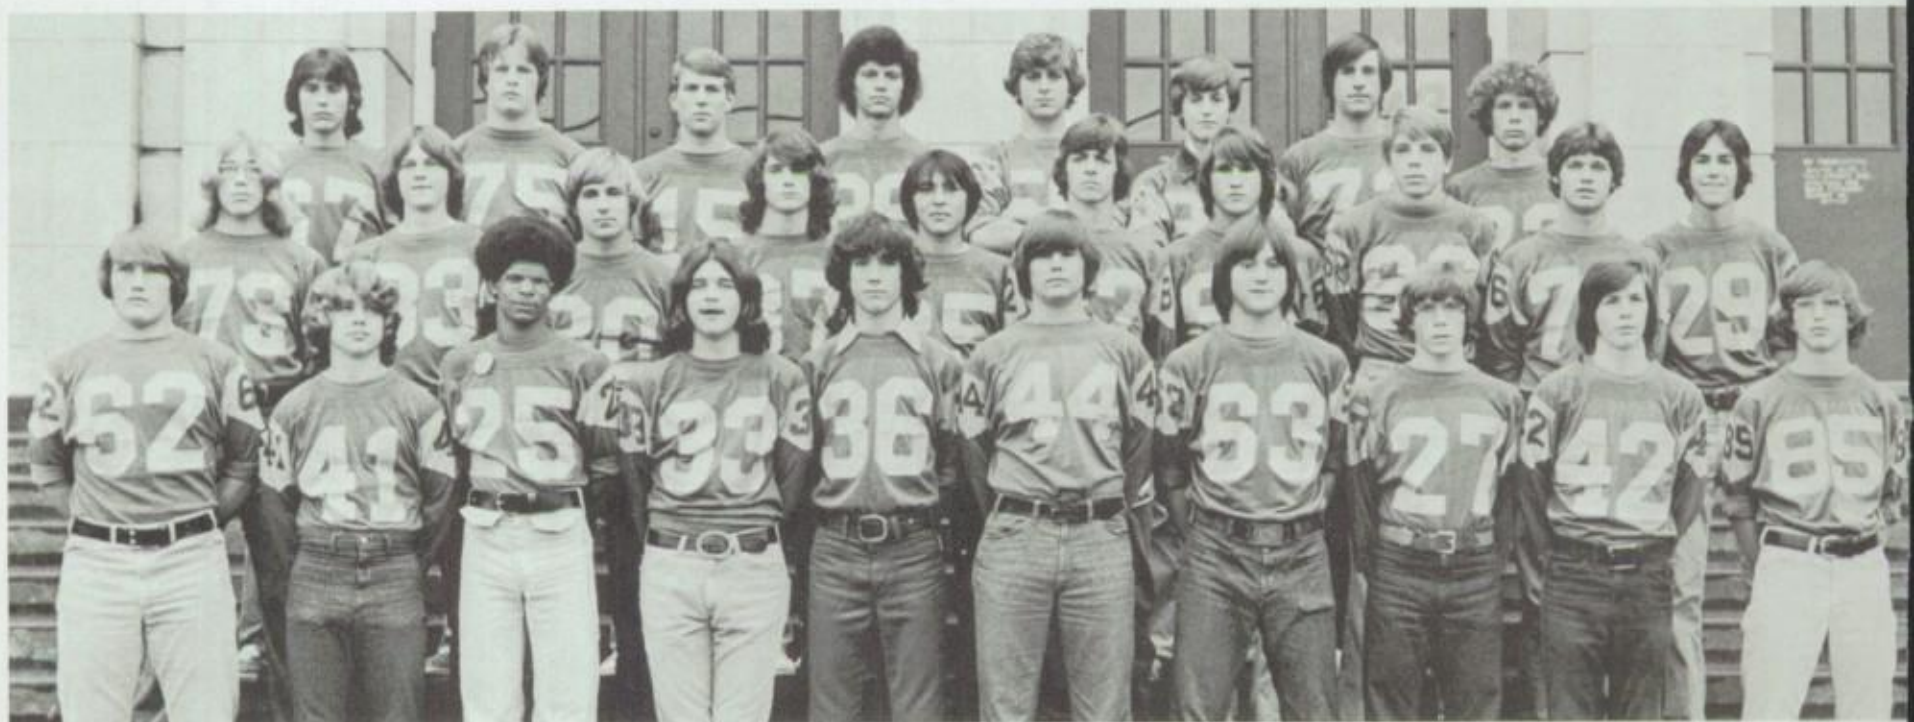

Mike Hawes, linebacker

Crediting his Junior Varsity football team with "coming a long way by season's end," Coach Roy Burright explained his team's one win, nine loss season: "We were a very young team; in fact, half of the squad had never played football before."

Injuries played a big part in the JV's season, too. "At one time or another, we had five players out with injuries. Eric Kreiger, Rich Mann, Kevin Ruse, Jeff Whipple and Jon Wilson's injuries really wiped out our line, and this hurt us in a lot of our games," related the head coach of 11 years.

Highlight of the season was the JV victory over Benson, 18-6. Playing quarterback for the first time, junior Harold Nelson "ran the option very well and scored two of the club's three touchdowns," Burright remembered. "Benson didn't take us seriously, and we stopped them cold up the middle," he praised.

The JV team began its season with only 11 players turning out, but eventually the numbers increased and they finished with 27. "Definitely, some of these players will help the Varsity team," Burright predicted.

Frosh Football Grid rookies lose one

"The Frosh worked great as a team, which was the determining factor in our successful season."

Mike Bocci,
Running Bear,
Defensive Back

Despite one close loss to the Marshall Minutemen, Cleveland's Freshman football squad compiled the best winning record in years. Outscoring other Frosh opponents 11 to 12 after three games, the Tribe was almost able to go undefeated. "We had many outstanding players, but most of all we played as a team very well," related assistant coach Jim Engles, Sr.

The Freshman's 6-1 season was highlighted when halfback Marvin Hill romped for seven touchdowns in one game on way to the squad's 60-0 victory over Adams.

"Freshman football is more of a learning experience than anything, and we felt these kids did a fine job of learning this year," commented head coach Terry Williams. "Our only downfall was the Marshall game when we just weren't 'up' mentally," Williams recalled.

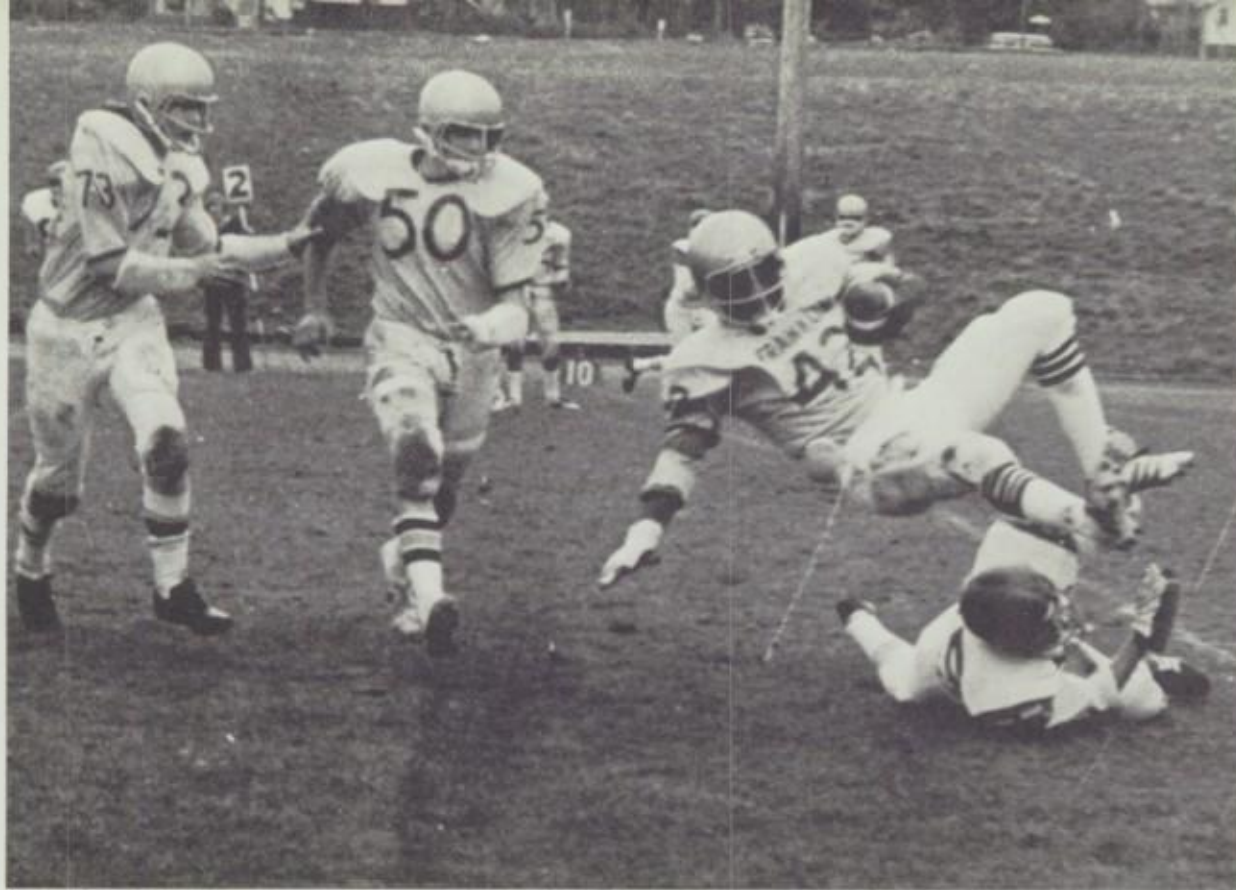

"Frosh football is usually just a bunch of people running wild, but these kids wanted to work and they tried to do their best, both on and off the field," the coach praised.

Fall Rally Memories super

"The Varsity rally kept the spirit and support coming all season. The slide show was great and will remain very special to all of us."

Steve Katrena,
Co-captain
Varsity football

Streamers and balloons helped end the Varsity football rally's season when the girls gave a pizza party for the team after their victorious Jefferson game.

"Our season got off to a good start," explained rally member Debi Fisher, when the fall rally quenched the team with lemonade, popsicles, ice water, and a watermelon feed during pre-season daily doubles.

Other members of the 1975 fall Varsity rally included Sue Almand, Dianne Cason, Diana Fredericks, Sally Nielsen, Jenny Speight, and freshman Dave Skoch, who was invited by the girls to help out during the season.

The rally captured the season in pictures, with the help of photographers Scott Fitzpatrick and Jeff Wilson, and combined them with team members' baby pictures to make a slide show presentation accompanied with music that proved "quite memorable to the team and coaches," praised Mr. Gene Flippin, head coach.

A change this year allowed the squad to rally twice for the professional football team, Portland Thunder, and the rally captured the first place spirit award during their week of rally clinic in August.

"The girls were one of the hardest working groups we've ever had and they made my job very easy," praised Mrs. Mollie Palmer, Varsity rally adviser, who retired after four years of service to start a family.

Tie for third place

Losses to Grant and Madison diminish
the chances for the City
title

With 11 lettermen returning, Cleveland's Varsity soccer team played "with more enthusiasm and a much more positive attitude", praised Coach Don Nelson about his team which finished in a tie for third place in the Portland Interscholastic League's East division.

The season began with Tribe wins over Washington, Marshall and Adams, but disappointing losses to Madison and Grant "probably cost us a playoff berth", analyzed Coach Nelson. "Carrying the offensive chore of scoring points were junior Mike Quinn and sophomores Charlie Park and Tony Bye," noted Nelson.

Randy Baker and Don Draper, juniors, "had an exceptional year and shouldered both offensive and defensive responsibilities", said Nelson. "Sophomore Peter Frost and goalie Yong Min Kim did a fantastic job."

At the fall Varsity Awards Banquet, Kim received the Royal "C" award; Baker, the Outstanding Contributor trophy and Russell Stoddard, the Most Improved honor.

Enjoy 'exceptional year'

Gary Moy went to State but the Tribe suffered a big disappointment when Cathy Leaverton was injured at City after qualifying for finals

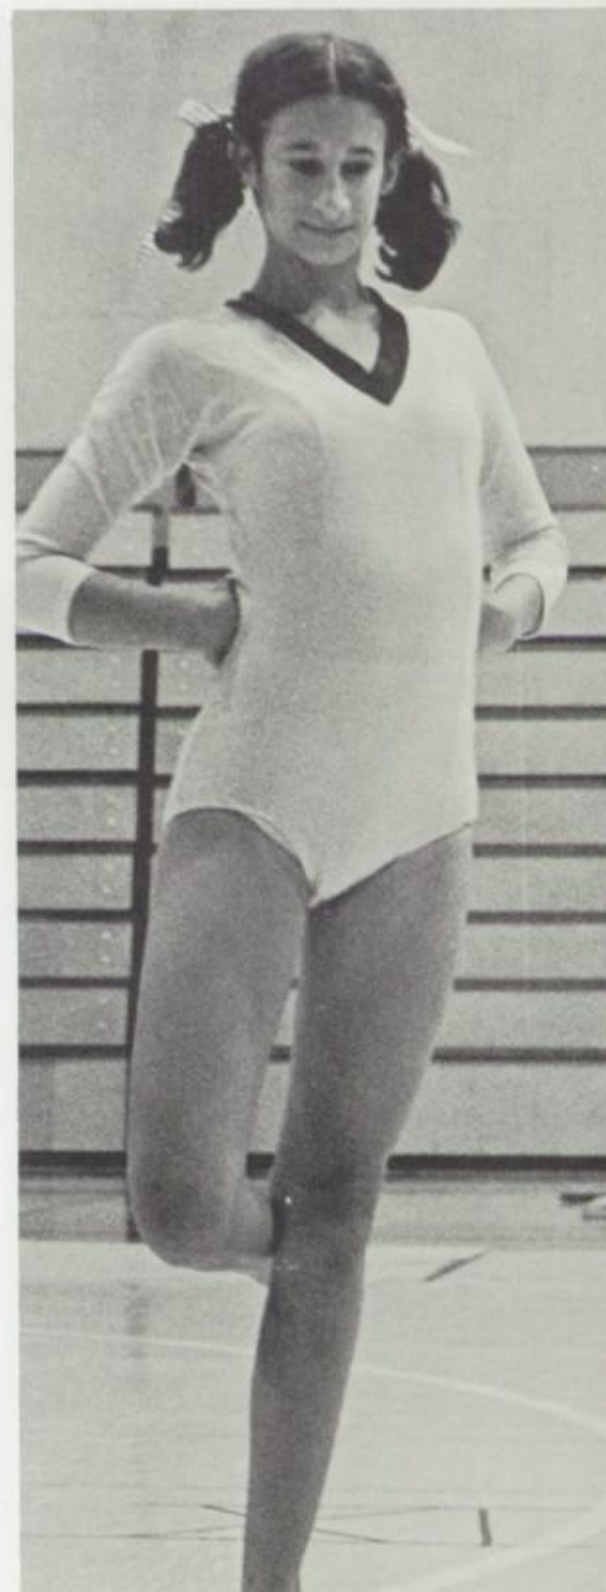

Varsity boys and girls gymnastics teams enjoyed highlights, which would make "any team proud as they sent Gary Moy to State and had many outstanding performances from individuals during the season," according to the coaches.

"We had a very strong core, and it was filled by some excellent freshmen," elaborated girls Coach Nancy Rhodes. One of those freshmen, Cathy Leaverton, won the "all around" title five times during the year and took a fifth at City. The girls finished with a 5-2 record and fourth in City.

"The boys worked very hard and really improved," remarked boys Coach Roger Weeks. Senior Gary Moy was the first Indian gymnast to qualify for State, and he scored an individual high of 7.85, but failed to qualify for the State finals. The boys team ended the season with a 4-4 record in competition.

Under the leadership of a new coach, Mr. Paul Kahn, a teacher from Hosford Grade School, the Varsity boys and girls cross country teams enjoyed a more successful season than those of the recent past.

"We weren't as strong in the boys competitions as we were in the girls," Kahn related, "but our turn-out was pretty good and the individuals really wanted to run."

Claiming "I love to run with them, too," Kahn looks forward to the coming seasons. "We will only lose two runners to graduation, Cindi Owens and Duane Schaeffer so the outlook is bright for the next couple of years."

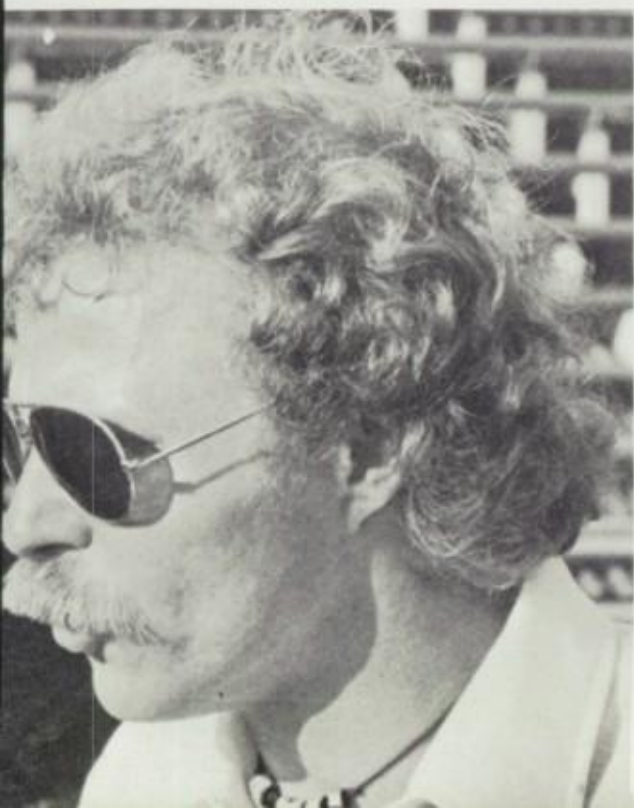

Outstanding runners Kahn praised included Owens, freshmen Lisa Langston and Linda Becker, recipient of the Royal 'C' award, and sophomore Dave Harney, the boy Coach Kahn congratulated as being "the most consistent."

Other fine runners included Chuck Retondo, Yin Lwin Hwee, Chris Haugen and Vernie Santos.

Capturing first place in the 178 lbs. weight class at the 1976 AAA High School Wrestling Tournament, junior Gary Yarco became the first Cleveland wrestler in 13 years to win a State championship.

Calling Yarco "our most dedicated wrestler," Varsity Coach Don York said, "I was pleased with the results of our season, too." The squad, compiling a 6-3 win-loss record, placed second in City competition.

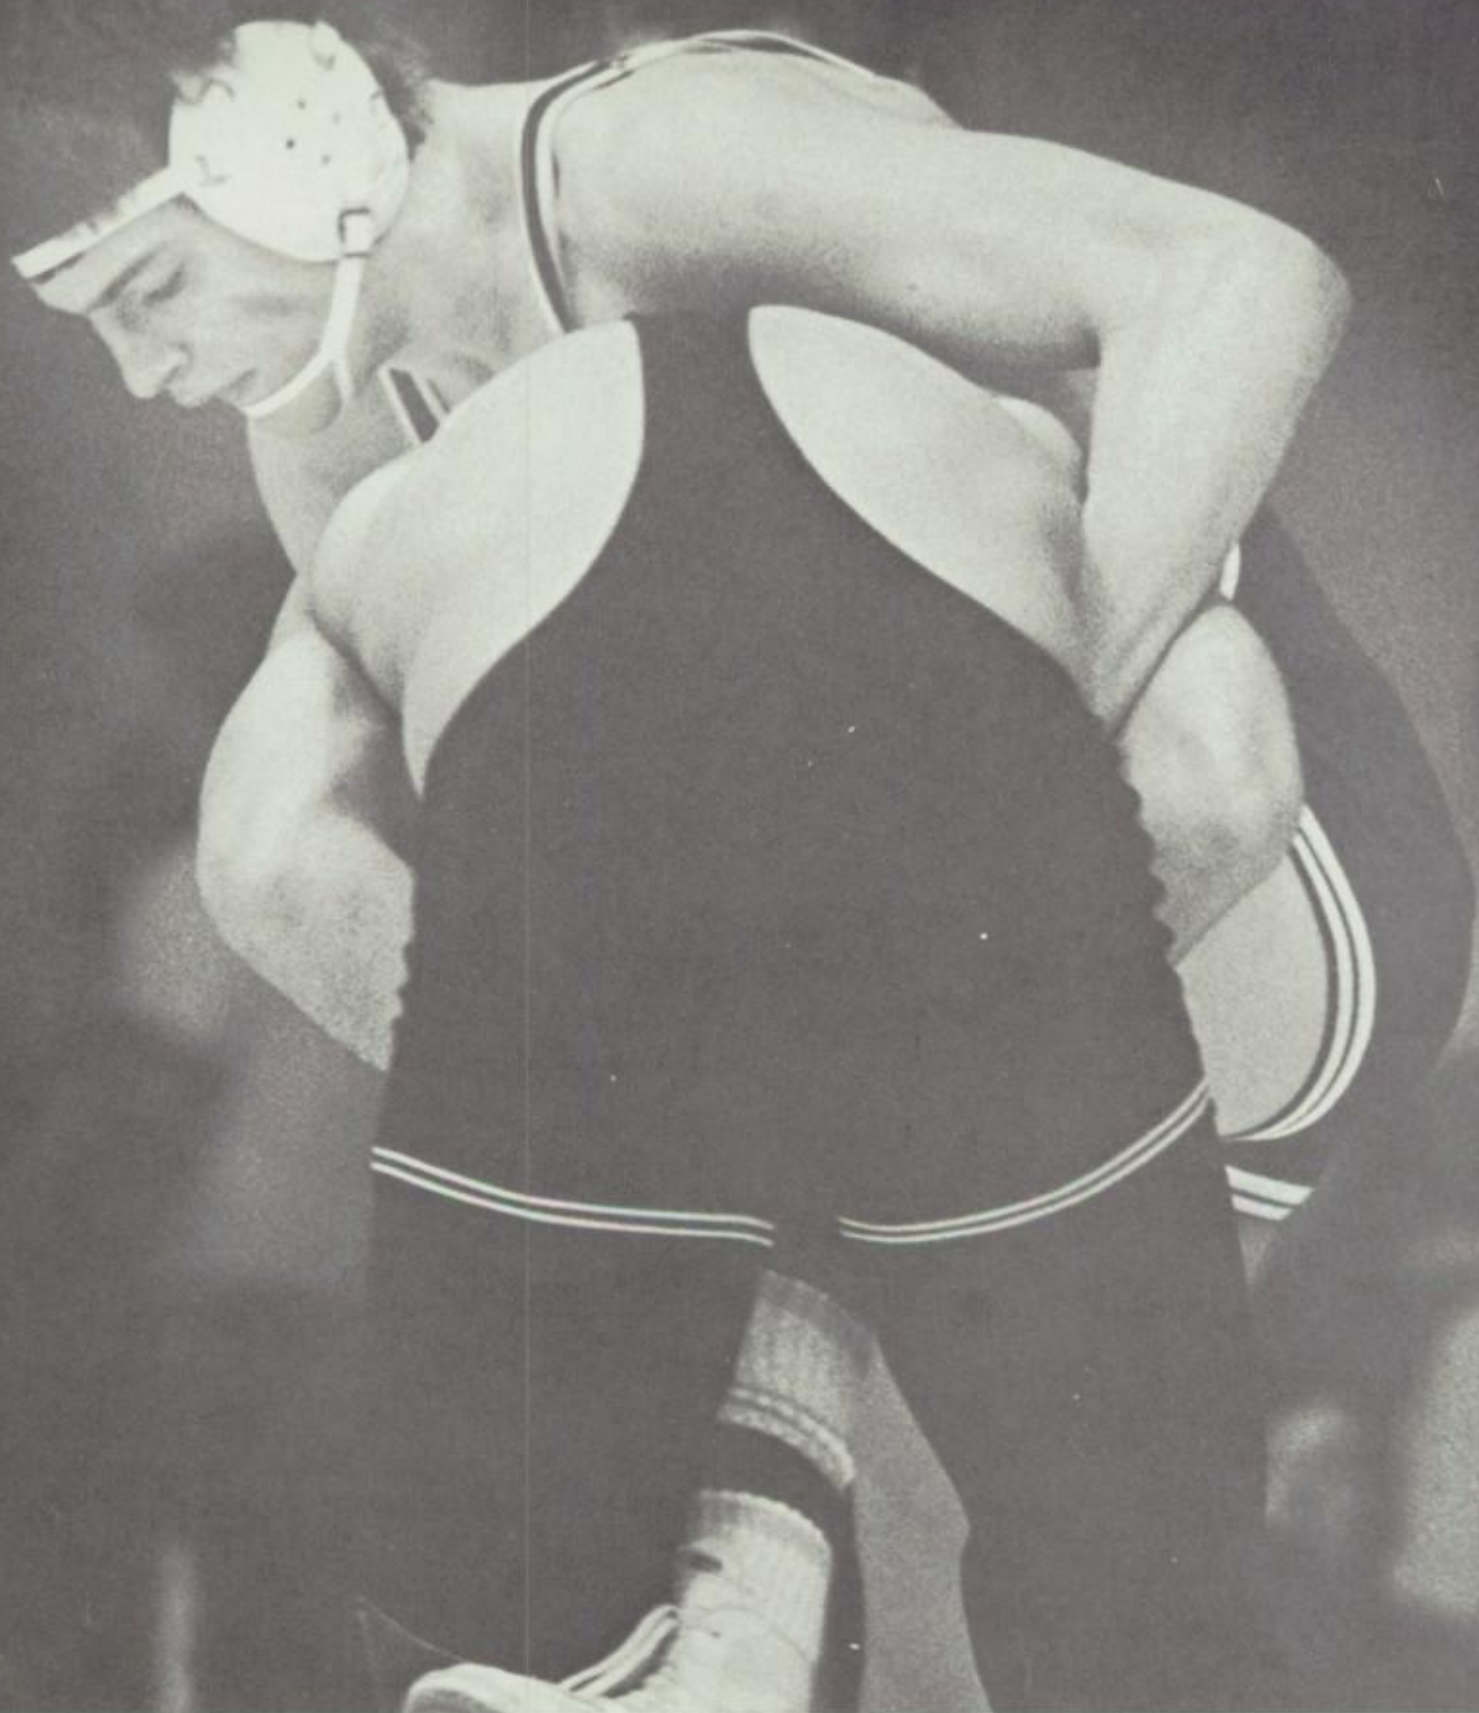

Besides Yarco (28 wins, 1 loss), York praised juniors Monte Medley, 157 lbs., second in City and Mark Gronvold, heavyweight, first in City, both of whom also journeyed to State, but neither advanced beyond the first round. Others receiving congratulations were seniors Mark Gattucio, 130 lbs.; Jeff Clark, 136 lbs., third in City; Rich Hildreth, 148 lbs, fourth in City; Ed Medley, 148 lbs., third in City, and John Swoyer, 168 lbs., fourth in City.

York, retiring from coaching after 19 years, announced Yarco as the Royal "C" winner and Clark as the most improved wrestler.

The grapplers started off the season lacking strength in lighter weights according to Coach Burright, "but even though we were minus one or two weights each meet, we made up for the forfeits in other weight classes."

Outstanding Frosh matmen, cited by Burright, included Jim Millard, 157 lbs., the only wrestler to capture a win in the Franklin Invitational; Andrew Bates, 130 lbs., and Bert Cavett, 136 lbs.

Varsity basketball

Inexperience hurts

Outlook for next season is optimistic since the girls will field a veteran team.

In the second season of competition, the girls Varsity basketball team was greatly hampered by inexperience, returning only one starter from last year's .500 ball club.

Head Coach Jan Watt explained, "I knew it was going to be a rebuilding year so I purposely kept the squad young. We had three freshmen and no seniors." Relating that other teams in the East division were loaded with veterans, she said, "Our lack of consistency on offense was the main reason we weren't able to win."

The coach termed the victory over Adams as the high-point of the season. Adams was the only team to beat East division runner up, Grant, twice. Outstanding performers for the Tribe were sophomore Tonja Reigle, an honorable mention East division pick, leading scorer and rebounder with 68 and 107, respectively; junior Celia Cruickshank, a second team East division selection, leader in assists with 30 and second in scoring with 62 points, despite an early season knee injury which bothered her all year long, and freshman, Maureen Flaherty, who "played extremely well against her veteran opponents" and was second in rebounds with a total of 83. "Mo has the potential to be a first team All-City pick by her junior year if she dedicates herself," predicted Watt.

"The outlook for next year is good even though Wilson and Benson will be joining us in the East division. We have the potential to finish third in our division," the coach believes.

Efforts pay off

"We had a really fun season and the team got along well together."

Karen Stark, forward

Junior Varsity girls basketball coach Barbara Meyer felt this year's JV team was one that "grew a great deal." The squad won seven and lost five.

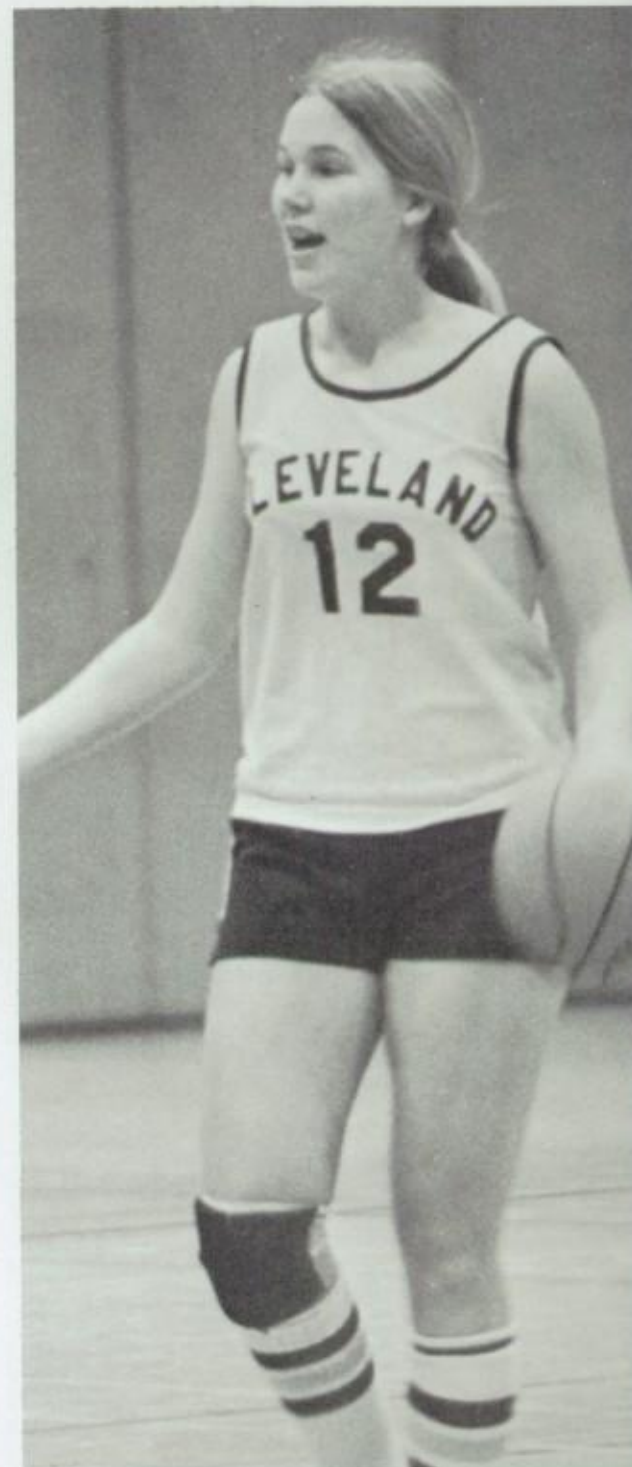

"I wasn't sure what to expect from the girls, being a first year coach, but I felt they worked hard and showed a great deal of potential. I think they'll be able to come back even stronger next year when they'll have more time to develop their skills," she continued.

Outstanding players varied from game to game as all the girls had "a generally good season," she said. "We had a few "off days" which we weren't able to work together, but when the players did cooperate among themselves, we had great results," she related. The coach felt the most exciting game of the season came against Madison when the score bounced back and forth throughout the entire game. It was the highest scoring game of the season and the Tribe came out on top, 46-44.

Lynn Anderson, a PSU graduate student, who coached Freshman girls volleyball, assisted Meyer with the JV's throughout the season.

Regrets many

"It was a disappointing year. I only wish the seniors had another year to prove themselves."

Clarke Leaverton, team captain

"I never thought we played together and this along with our lack of experience, were the basic reasons we lost our games," revealed Varsity basketball coach Gary Roy, who announced his resignation at the end of the season.

A coach for 16 years, the last five at Cleveland, Roy explained: "This team couldn't play together because the team members didn't know each other well enough, and they didn't have the trust in each other that they should have."

Disappointments included the 3-15 win-loss record and the lack of team unity. Highlight of the season was the contest against Grant, the East division champion, at the Memorial Coliseum. "We lost by only six points, and I was very pleased by this effort," Roy praised.

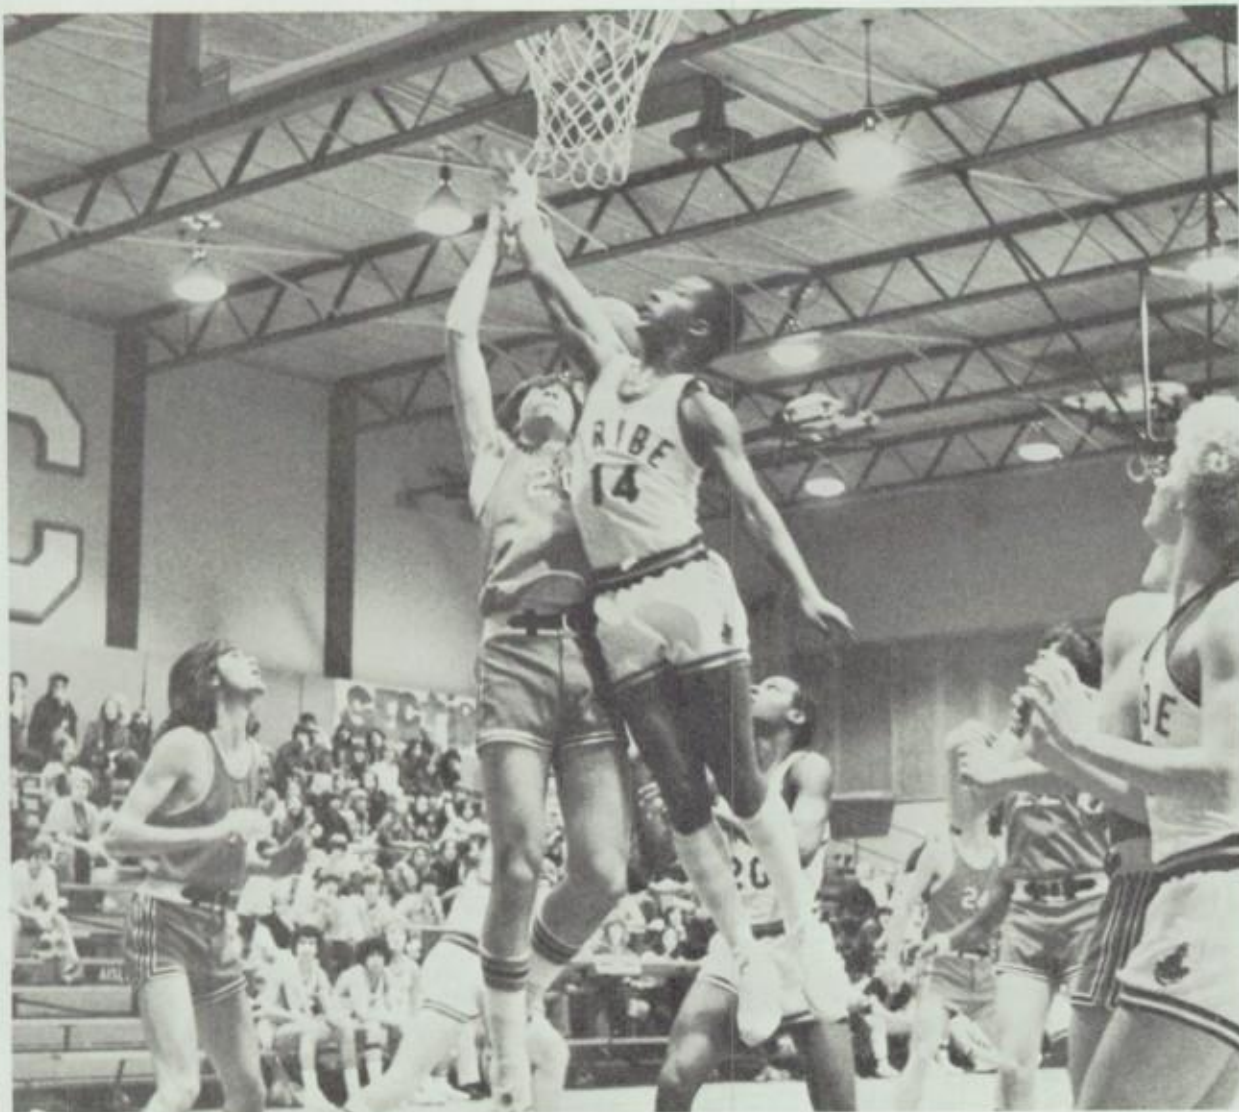

Citing this team's "potential," Roy predicted that "the team will be much better next year because they'll have needed experience."

Selected for the East division All-City team, honorable mention, were juniors Russell Stoddard, Dee Johnson and Leif Ormseth, and Clarke Leaverton, senior guard and team captain was selected as the Royal "C" recipient. "He did whatever was needed and was extremely valuable, lauded Roy.

Achieves goal

A second

highlights a 'very successful'
season.

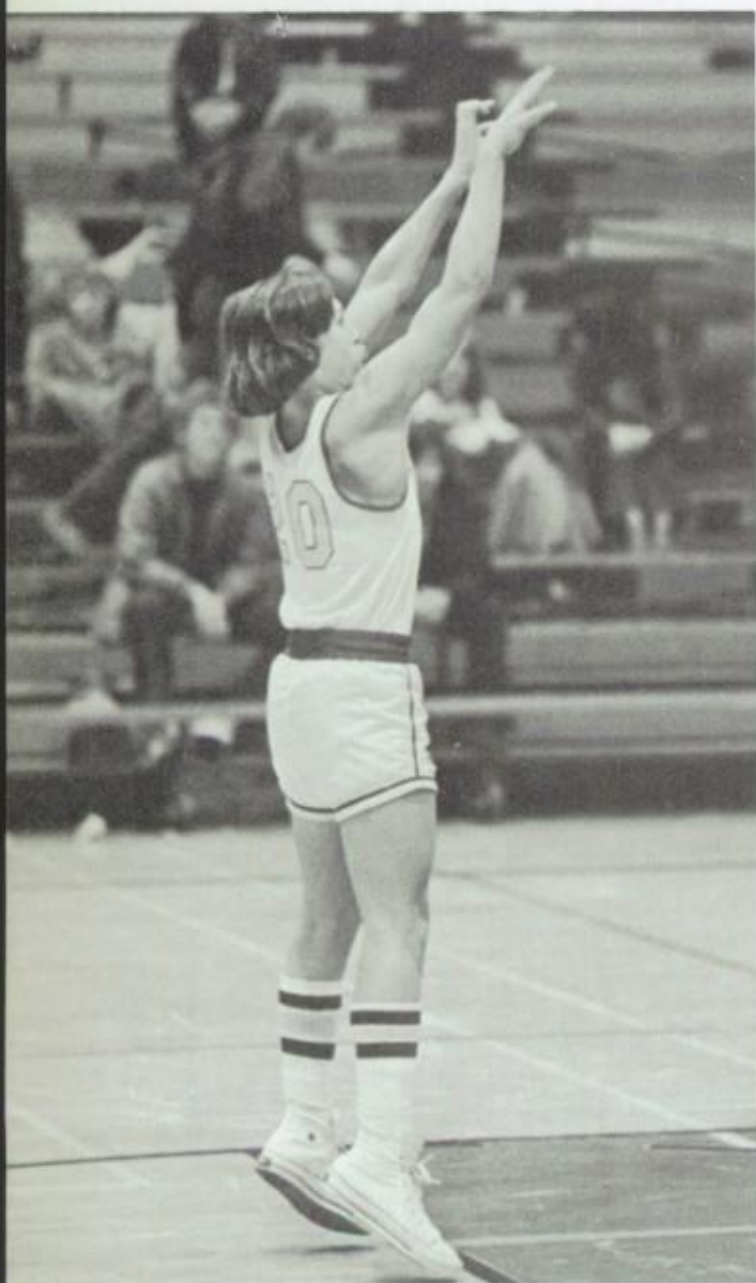

"It was a very profitable season," praised Junior Varsity mentor Terry Williams, whose goal was "to give these players the opportunity to win twice as many games as they did in their Freshman year."

The squad succeeded in realizing their coach's hopes as they compiled a 11-6 Portland Interscholastic League record, which earned the JV Tribe a second place spot in the East division.

"Our zone press worked very effectively this year once the kids began believing in it," commented Williams, "and we did blend extremely well as a team even though we didn't have any outstanding shooters or rebounders.

"These were probably the most coachable players I've ever had," he praised. "They were truly a great group."

Leading scorer was sophomore Eric Tohlen with a 10.7 average per game. Sophomore Dave Kukla led the free throw shooting mark with 38. The leading assist man was junior guard Randy Baker, who, according to Williams, "controlled the Tribe's offensive tempo all season long."

Frosh Basketball

Enjoy 'super' record

"It was a great experience and an enjoyable season."

Dave Manougian, guard

Experiencing one of his best Frosh basketball seasons ever with a 13-2 league record, Coach Cole Gardiner emphasized, "We not only had a great first string, but a good second and third string, too. Our shooting was tremendous, and we were tops in our league in rebounding, but it takes good lead guards to set all that up, and we were blessed with those also."

"This was a very unselfish team," praised the coach. "We had a very fluid, controlled offense that depended on patient ball players, which we had. These kids had a lot of confidence in themselves and in each other, which resulted in blending beautifully as a team."

Gardiner cited three "big" wins during the season as evidence of this blending. "We beat Benson, 56-51; Grant, 51-46, and Wilson, 59-56, to top it all off. "We didn't have any bad attitudes which played an extremely large role in the success of our season. Overall, the season was much more than I had ever anticipated."

Special honors included "Most Valuable", Mark Haggard, who also recieved the best rebounder award; "Top Scorer", Chris Stokes; "Most Assists", Kris Ormseth, and "Most Improved", Scott Bos and Alex McLean.

Winter rally

Clinic helps

"The job of a rally is a lot bigger than most people realize."

Terrie Zunker, rally member

"We lacked experience. Considering only one of us was on rally before, we did pretty well," commented Barb Teeter, winter Varsity basketball rally member. Others on the squad included Cheryl Burback, Debbie Sample, Janice Young, Sue Norman and Terrie Zunker.

The winter rally attended a clinic in Vancouver, Washington in June. "We learned new dances and yells and we won lots of the competitions sponsored by the clinic," remarked Burback.

As is traditional, the girls presented the Varsity basketball team with treats before each game. "Few realize how much time the girls spend on rally. Basketball season lasts three months and often the team has three games a week so a lot of preparation is involved," related Mrs. Barbara Frey, adviser.

The Junior Varsity members included Jenny Gray, Joan Emerson, Kris Raz, Leslie Lloyd, Vikki Houf and Laurie Grimes and the Freshman class selected Sara Harding, Erna Robertson, Cathy Leaverton, Kelly Graetzer, Carmina Betancourt and Corine Locke as its rally.

Varsity swimming Divers go to State

Girls finish second in City and boys
third as the teams
enjoy a "super"
year.

"The Varsity swimming team had an exceptional year," exclaimed Coach Pat Fraser. "We had a few great individuals, but a very strong total team effort helped us do as well as we did." The girls compiled a 4-1 record, placing second in the East division and a fourth place showing at City. The boys finished third in the East with a 3-2 record, but failed to qualify for City due to the third place standing.

The swimmers voted senior Margaret Norville and sophomore Brooks Pearson as the outstanding swimmers for the year.

For the first time in many years, Cleveland was represented in competition by a diving team. Freshmen Mark Mattson captured first in City and Amy Heintz captured second. Mattson went on to a 12th place finish at the State meet in February, but Heintz did not place.

"This is the first time that we have had a diving team at Cleveland since I've been here and to capture first and second at City in our first year of competition was really fantastic," concluded Fraser.

Victor nabs honors

Indians finish third in division and look to the 1976-77 campaign for a revival

A 9 win-9 loss league record was good enough to give the Varsity Indian diamondmen a third place finish in the always powerful East division. Head Coach Jerry Gatto called, "the inconsistencies of the team" the main reason for the unusual number of losses.

Senior first baseman, Tony Victor, who led the Tribe in every offensive category, was voted the Royal "C" recipient. Victor, first team All-City and All-Metro, had the highest batting average, .426; most base hits with 24; most extra base hits with 11, including two home runs and most runs scored, 12.

Seniors Pete Norman, pitcher and most inspirational; Mark Gattuccio, second base, and junior Stu Templeton, shortstop, nabbed spots on the All-City second team. Competing in the annual All-Star game for the Tribe were catcher Mitch Elske, Norman and Victor.

"The outlook for the Indians in the future years should be very exciting since we have so many outstanding young players on both the Varsity and JV teams," predicted the coach.

Sophomores bolster squad

"If the weather had been better, we would have played lots more games."

Randy Eshleman,
outfielder

"Our Junior Varsity basketball team was composed of an extremely good group of sophomores (only two juniors were on the team), and if we had had some decent weather, this would have been the best season I can recall in my 18 years here at CHS," expressed Coach Robert Freeman.

Normally, the JV squad plays 18-20 games a season, but the weather limited this year's contests to 12. Freeman expressed great pleasure with the outfield and pitching staff. "We weren't great hitters and the infield wasn't as solid as some in the past, but this group has great potential."

Noting improvement individually, Freeman praised the 10-2 team saying, "These kids will do a super job on the Varsity squad because of their competitiveness and great attitude. Everyone who played did a fine job."

"Without question, this was truly one of my most memorable teams in 29 years of coaching," Freeman concluded.

'Super' kids lauded

Rookies compile record, and please their coach greatly.

"I expect really great things from these kids in the next three years," praised Freshman baseball coach Don Nelson. "They're one of the best group of kids I've ever had."

A good number of this year's team will help the Varsity next season as sophomores," predicted Nelson. "These kids always gave 100 percent and that proved they're real winners," he continued.

"Our squad was a pretty well rounded one except our hitting wasn't the best. The outfield was exceptional and the infield was great. "We had lots of kids to pick from this year since the turn-out was the best ever," commented Nelson.

"Our team was composed of fine athletes with super attitudes."

"Pitchers were a group we were not in dire need for," Nelson said, and all the players he cited were hurlers: Steve Walker, Scott Bos, Doug Clark, and Dean Patterson.

Jon Wall Singles Champion

Tournament

Portland Tennis Center

Mt. Hood Community College
May 21,22,1976

Jon Wall, senior, captured the State tennis singles championship, the boys Varsity netters won the top spot in District, while the girls sent doubles team to State to highlight Cleveland's tennis seasons.

Retiring coach Paul George called Wall, winner of the Carl Carpenter award as most valuable, "a real superstar" whose record was 25-0. "This team accomplished all that was expected, and I was truly proud to be their coach," he said. Two will graduate, Wall and Howard Tsang, another whom George called "outstanding." Tsang won a new award, the Paul M. George, for most improved.

Sporting a 4-1 league record, good for second in East division and fourth in District, the girls made coach Judy Dean "very happy. Of course, we were pleased when Peggy Steinbrugge and Laurie Exley, second in doubles at District, competed at State." The duo lost the first round. Steinbrugge was the team's pick for the Royal "C" award.

"We didn't look sharp during our pre-season matches, but we did much better in league play. We corrected some of our problems and tried some new approaches and, hopefully, we've found a happy medium," the coach related. "I'm certain the outlook for next year is very good."

Varsity track

"It wasn't as fun as last year, but we were able to work together as a team to have a fairly good season."

Tonja Reigle,
javelin,
relays

Even though this year's Varsity Track teams didn't enjoy the best season ever, the girls did send three to State, Linda Becker in the mile, Laurie Florke in the 440 and Marie Pierce in the shot put. Becker took second in State, but the latter two did not place. With the girls 3 win-3 loss record, and the disappointing boys record of 1 win - 5 losses, "this didn't really show the great talent and potential they had", according to boys head coach Al Benight, who announced his retirement at season's end. He cited junior Mike Quinn, hurdler, as the winner of the Royal "C" and Walt Medley as the coaches pick for most improved.

Mrs. Mary Peterson, second year girls coach, said, "Our only downfalls were losing the Grant and Madison meets by close margins. We needed more people because we lost to injury Joan Emerson, in the hurdles, and Lisa Langston, long distance", she continued. "We had many who excelled individually, but we still worked as a team throughout the season", she praised. Peterson also credited Vikki Houf, hurdles; Tonja Reigle, javelin, relays; Laurie Grimes, 100 yard dash, relays; Robyn Recknor and Kathy Freeman, high jump. Becker won the Royal "C" award and Florke, the most inspirational.

Gill brings home a City trophy in the mile to boost the Frosh tracksters season

The Junior Varsity and Freshman track seasons were highlighted by a perfect no loss record for the JV girls, and a mediocre Freshman boys season tally of two wins, three losses.

With only four boys turning out for JV track, Cleveland was unable to field a team at this level, but the girls upheld the Tribe's honor by defeating all opponents during the 1976 season.

"The girls really did an outstanding job. I've never seen so many individuals as diversified as these," praised Coach Mary Peterson.

"Janet Stewart, competing in several events, was very impressive this year," she explained. "She definitely distinguished herself in her teammate's eyes."

Scott Gill, Steve Kappel, and Greg Ruff were cited as outstanding freshmen boys, all of whom participated in the City meet. Gill brought home a fifth place City victory for the Tribe rookies in the mile.

"The Frosh were very determined, but not powerful enough to defeat our three strongest adversaries," commented retiring head Coach Al Benight. "All in all, our track teams put forth a good effort, even though our scores were not outstanding," he concluded.

The boys finished with a 16-4 record, capturing fourth in City, while the girls compiled a 5-5-1 win-loss record, good for a fifth place finish at City.

The outstanding player of the year was "almost impossible to pick," according to Roy, "since we had so much depth." Dave Irons, winner of the Harry Keats Award as most valuable, had the low average for the year, but he was closely followed by junior Pat Cooney and freshman Ray Comella." Sophomore Andrea Neil was the girl with the low average for her team, followed by Michelle Shank.

Lauren Dillard,
Q&S president

The fourth annual donkey basketball contest, featuring faculty and senior riders, was the main money making project of the year for Quill and Scroll. "It helped both the newspaper and the yearbook staffs with their fund raising which is necessary each year," explained Lauren Dillard, president of Quill and Scroll, a national journalism honorary. The newspaper needs $2,500 a year and the yearbook needs $14,000.

"The publication staffs earned about $500 after sharing the donkey basketball profits with the owners. The faculty beat the seniors, 8-4, during the well-attended game which people of all ages enjoyed," recalled Dillard.

Profits also helped the staffs sponsor the publications banquet in April, where the new staff positions for 1976-77 were announced.

To become a member of Quill and Scroll, students are required to be in the top third of their class scholastically, serve on either TOMAHAWK or LEGEND staff for a year and be recommended by the adviser.

Pete Norman,
Senior member

National Honor Society, a nationally sponsored scholastic organization, inducted 52 junior members and eight senior members into the Chapter in early November.

As a service project, the Society sponsored a tutoring program where students could be assisted in various academic areas. "It was really a good program because people seeking help came to the center often and most of the time we had it staffed well enough so they could get it," explained Scott Fitzpatrick, president.

Purpose of NHS is to recognize those students who have excelled in the areas of scholarship, service, character and leadership. Any junior or senior who has a 3.5 grade point average or better may apply.

Thespians, Masque and Daggar

Merges together

Interest in dramatic activities causes an increase in club membership

Masque and Dagger and Thespians joined together to provide a stronger bond between drama classes and earned money to help each club's activities.

Both Masque and Dagger and Thespian members sponsored the play, "Curious Savage" and the Children's Theater and helped with "Don't Drink the Water," the fall production. The Children's Theater allows active drama members to perform for grade schools. "We plan to buy membership into the National Thespians Society, but first we have to re-write our constitution and earn the money to pay the membership fees," explained Ellen Castle, junior member of Thespians.

"Thespian's rose from the ashes of last year, and I can only hope it won't die again," expressed Thespian's president Karen McHone. Speaking highly about the increasing interest in the dramatic clubs, Castle said: "The freshmen and sophomores were really enthusiastic this year, even backstage."

Mr. David Aiken,
Administrative Assistant

"The French club was successful because we had regular attendance at our meetings and activities," praised Kathy Boyd, French club president.

At "Phantasmagoria", a carnival-like evening, the group sponsored a night club act featuring singers, musicians, comics and food. Other club activities included seeing a movie, "The King of Hearts", a comedy in the languages of French, English and German.

American Field Service (AFS) members spent the year sponsoring fund raising projects to help send Sue Higgins, junior, to a foreign country during the summer. Selling AFS Christmas cards and bake sales were ways the club raised money.

This year Cleveland's AFS student, Cathie Davey from England, stayed with the Oliver Norvilles, whose daughters Margaret, a senior, and Anne, a freshman, helped acquaint her with Cleveland.

better weather

"The Royal 'C' club had a good year, with much more participation than in the past, which was due mostly to our new adviser, Mr. Jim Engles," President Clarke Leaverton said.

"He organized the concession stand, and for the first time, we sold concessions at baseball games," related Leaverton.

The Royal 'C' sponsored Senior vs. Faculty basketball game, held in May, saw the seniors narrowly defeat the faculty, 60-59. It marked the first time both sexes played. Engles commended Celia Cruickshank, Tim Johnson and Leaverton as "outstanding contributors."

"Although slightly hampered by poor weather, the Bicycle club still enjoyed many outings," according to President Dan Moe. "We went on a variety of rides throughout the city to places like Washington Park and the zoo. Members described the rides as "enjoyable but wet."

German, Spanish

Food proves popular

"Spanish club had its best year because of me!"

Miro Socih,
Spanish president

"'Phantasmagoria', a carnival-like activity, proved successful for the members of the Spanish club. Pinning the ears on the burro, selling hand-made tortillas and pinatas were just some of the activities that went on that night," explained Miro Soich president. The money earned helped sponsor three Costa Rican students, Grethel Castro, Elena Chang and Sonia Solano. The club sponsored the students' visit by paying for their registration fees.

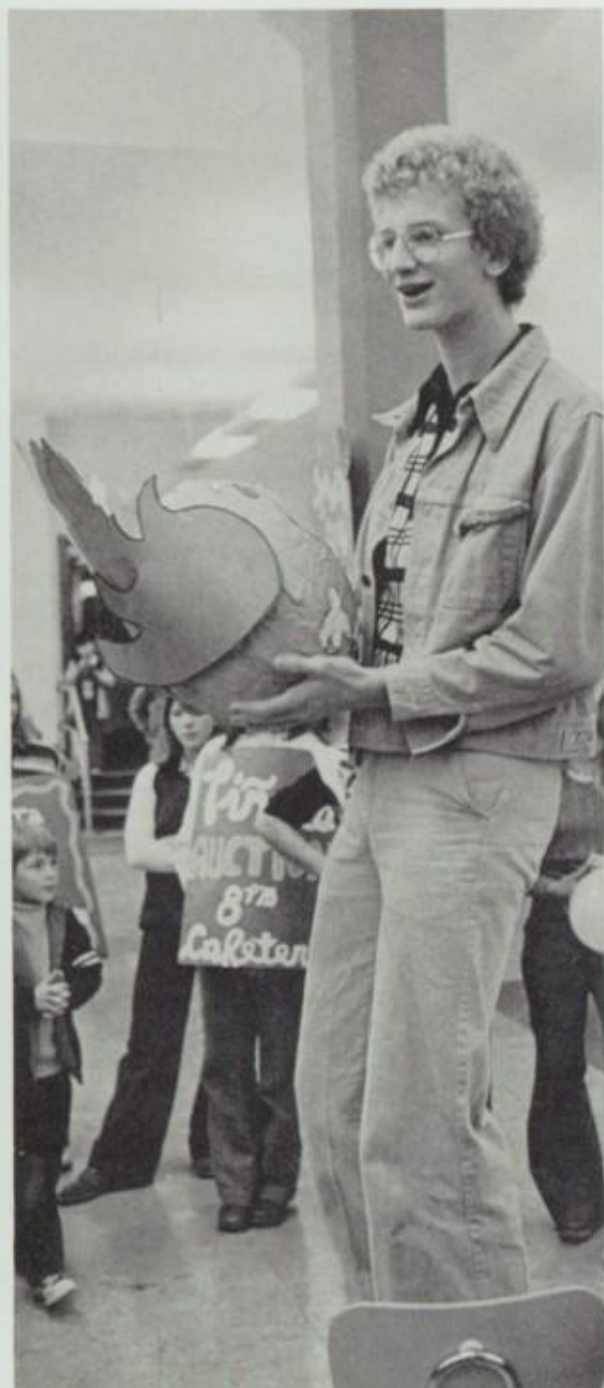

The Spanish club also put the finishing touches of paint on the Spanish room (307) walls, and held a dinner at the Original Taco House for all of the Spanish club members. Potlucks featuring Spanish foods were planned throughout the year.

The German club's main profit raising activity, selling sausages and potato salad, also occurred at "Phantasmagoria." In the spring, club members participated in an all day outing with other German students from the Portland area. "It was really a good experience for everybody because we ate German foods and talked in German for a whole day," expressed Robyn Recknor, president.

For the first time ever, the Bowling club was able to sponsor inner-school league competition. Ten teams from Cleveland participated and bowled against each other once a week at Pro 300 Lanes. The bowling season lasted four months.

"Our Bowling club proved to be very self-satisfying for those individuals who were looking for a relaxed sports activity after school," remarked Mr. Jerry Gatto, club adviser.

The main projects for the Red Cross club this year included the blood drive in March and selling Clara Bartons. "We had a larger turnout of blood donors this year than we had in the past," commented Merry Rambo, club president. "We appreciated the cooperation of everyone who was involved in this project."

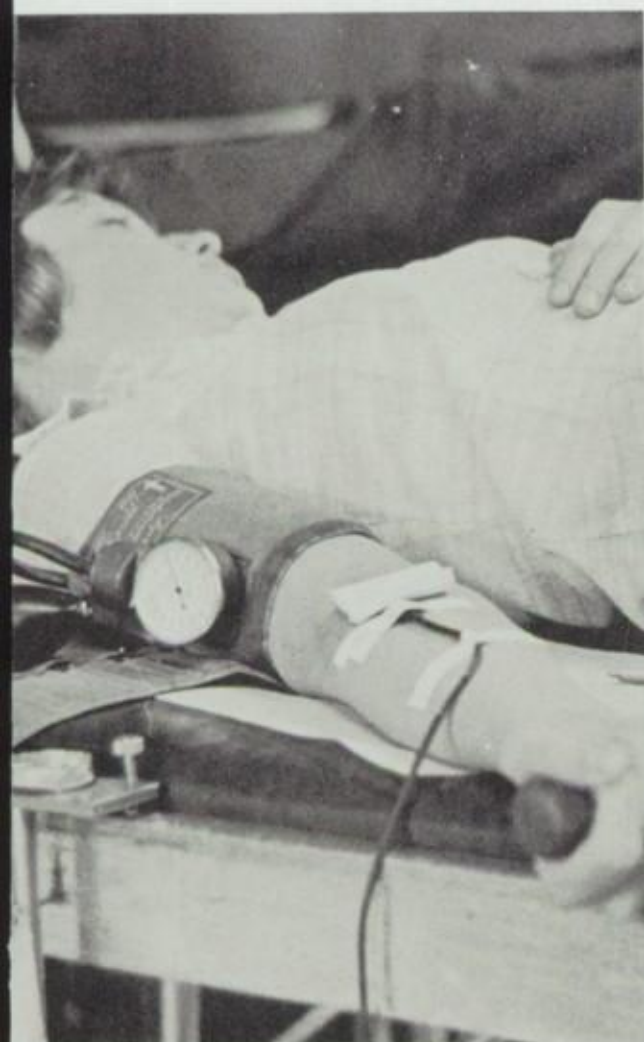

Despite its limited membership and some organizational problems, Rambo felt the club did well, and she is "expecting even more success next year."

Note involvement

"Student participation has been exceptional this year."

Mr. Glenn Hill, principal

"It was a good year for total involvement in athletics, music, forensics and drama," expressed Principal Glenn E. Hill as he looked back on the 1975-76 school year.

Hill noted the many murals throughout Cleveland as a major accomplishment for the school, and praised the students' "exceptional" involvement in these activities.

"We felt very fortunate to receive money from the School District to remodel our science facilities, finance the Career Education Center, and rebuild the student store," exclaimed Mr. Hill. "This ought to be considered a major achievement on our part."

"Our main concern is for Cleveland to remain a diversified high school with a strong concentration on basic skills. A special curriculum committee consisting of teachers, parents, and 59 students helped make recommendations for the future curriculum. With this committee's help, we have decided to stay with the module schedule, with a few modifications, next year," concluded Hill.

Art

It's beautiful . . .

"Calligraphy adds a touch of style to anything you write."

Barb Teeter,
art lettering student

"This year the art department added a new course called "Art/Astronomy," taught by science teacher Mr. Richard Pugh and art teacher Mrs. Mary Tivey," explained Mr. Al Steffens, department chairman: "The science students taking astronomy who were interested in taking painting spent a portion of their assigned time in the art room doing space paintings," explained Mrs. Tivey.

"To enroll in the art astronomy class students must have had previously taken one art and one science course. Before painting the students had to acquire some knowledge about the planet or star system," added Mr. Pugh.

An addition to this year's staff was Mrs. Marilyn Coffel, replacing Mrs. Elinore Olson, ceramics teacher, who retired last summer.

"We were very glad to have working with the art department artists in residence, Mr. Lanny Little and Mr. Gary Pearson, who were mural specialists," related Mr. Steffens.

Cleveland also had Ms. Jeanne Henry, who taught a non-credit leather workshop two mornings a week.

"The business department tried to provide classes that met the needs of Cleveland's students for their personal use, for a job, and/or preparation for further education," related Mrs. Blessing Sattler, business department chairperson. At the end of the first grading period, Mrs. Shirley Groom took over Mrs. Mollie Palmer's business classes. Mrs. Palmer, at Cleveland for six years, took a year's maternity leave.

"In 1976, the business department plans to offer a half-year office typing course for graduating juniors and seniors so they can upgrade their skills, especially if there has been a time-lag since their typing 3-4 class," related Sattler.

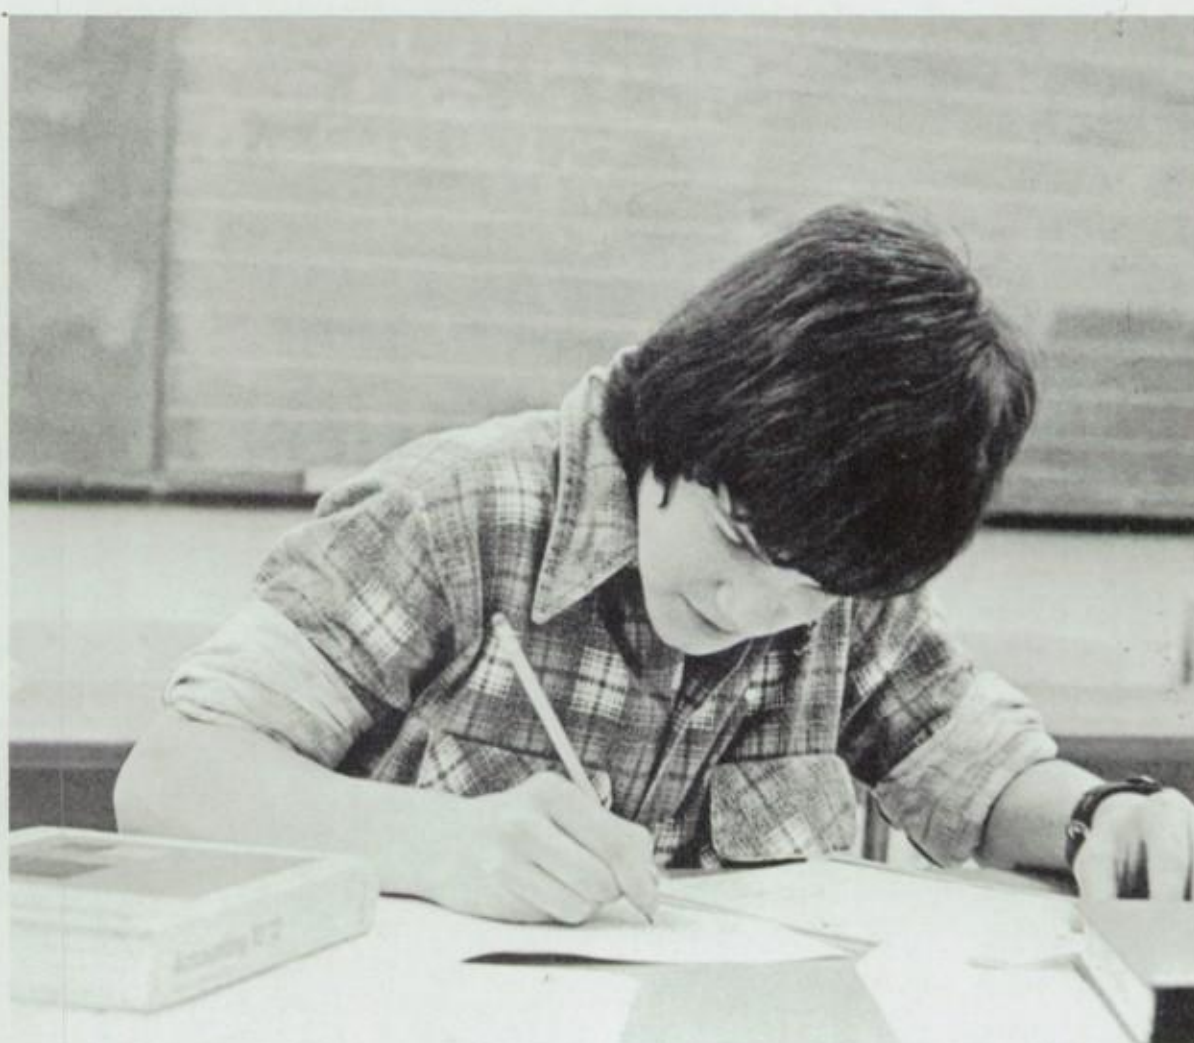

"This year many students worked at office jobs, which helped them apply skills, learned in business classes. They earned credit and salaries under the supervision of Mrs. Sandra Page, office work coordinator," explained Sattler. "Sixty-five students in the office occupation clusters are working at jobs in a variety of businesses—banks, law firms, dental offices and insurance companies etc.," commented Page.

Counseling

Help in variety of areas

"I find the SAFE class very beneficial to my educational future."

Kelly Graetzer,
freshman

"The guidance counseling department assisted students with any concerns they might have had, educational, personal, or career related. The counselors and support personnel also worked with parents and teachers," explained Mrs. Gloria Sandles, department chairperson.

This year the teachers, counselors, and freshmen participated in a new pilot program called Self Awareness Freshmen Education (SAFE). Designed to help students better understand their school and to create a feeling of class unity, the Frosh were divided among certain teachers and met every other Wednesday.

Mrs. Helen Mason, college coordinator, held evening workshops for students and parents regarding college entrance and financial aid. Also assisting the department was Mr. Montieth Macoubrie, who helped in the career education center by arranging conferences with the armed services.

The department had a new secretary, Mrs. Kathryn Nitta while Mrs. Sue Sherry remained as career guidance coordinator for teachers.

"The pendulum in the English department seems to be swinging back towards more difficult, basic skills courses in students' interests," explained Mr. Stan McLaughlin, department chairperson.

The English department strove to increase student competency and to further communication, both oral and written. "We believe it's necessary to help students develop appreciation for our heritage in literature," commented McLaughlin.

A basic-skills center was devised for students who had greater difficulty in grammar and composition. A writing lab was also developed.

This year the department sponsored a Bicentennial Spelling Bee, in which all four classes competed. A trophy was presented to junior Brian Williams at an assembly after he outspelled class champions, senior Viola Pruitt, sophomore Andrea Neil and freshman Susan Schleich.

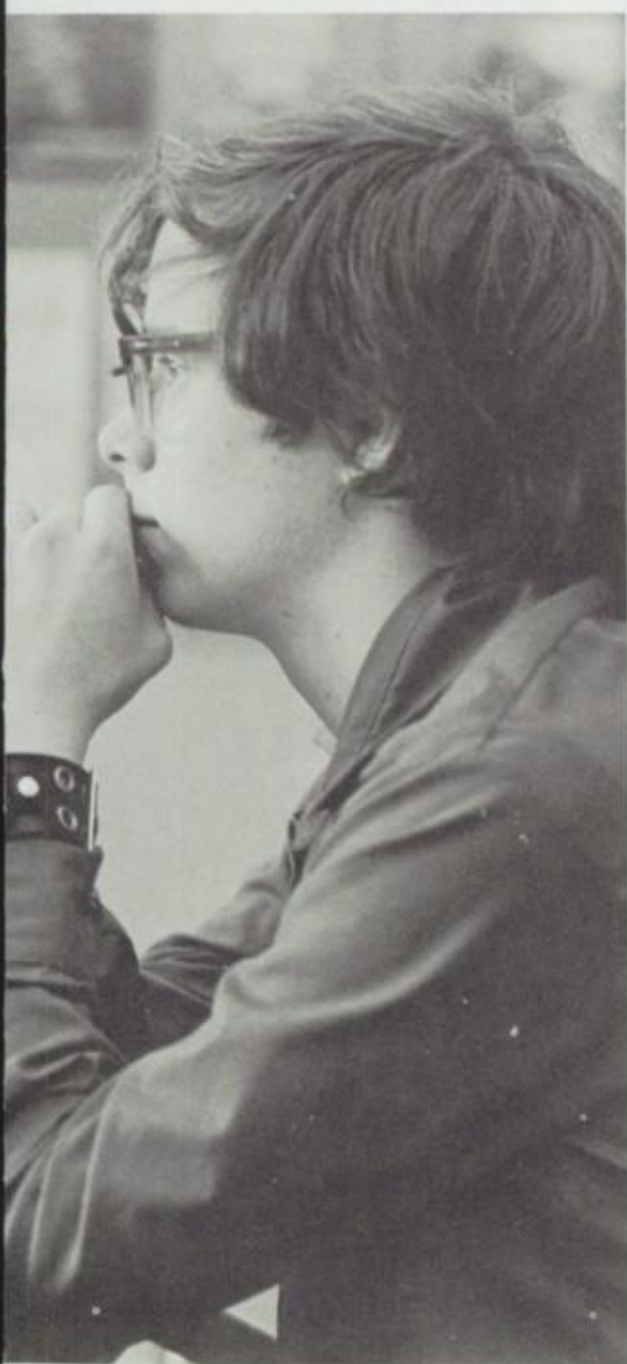

Cleveland's speech team enjoyed winning many City meets. Mr. Wayne Durrell, speech coach, praised this year's team "of largely new people for their great successes. I am quite sure that if they remain together as a team next year they, along with new members, will be unbeatable as a speech squad," he predicted.

"This year the foreign language department received a State Department of Education money grant to integrate foreign languages and career education.

We offered a new course in our curriculum, "The Communications Sampler," which consisted of eight weeks each of Spanish, German, French and Russian, three weeks of Chinese and one week of sign language," related Wollett.

Mrs. Carol Newman substituted for French/German teacher, Mr. Vincent Amen since the beginning of the school year. Amen retired after having taught at Cleveland for 18 years.

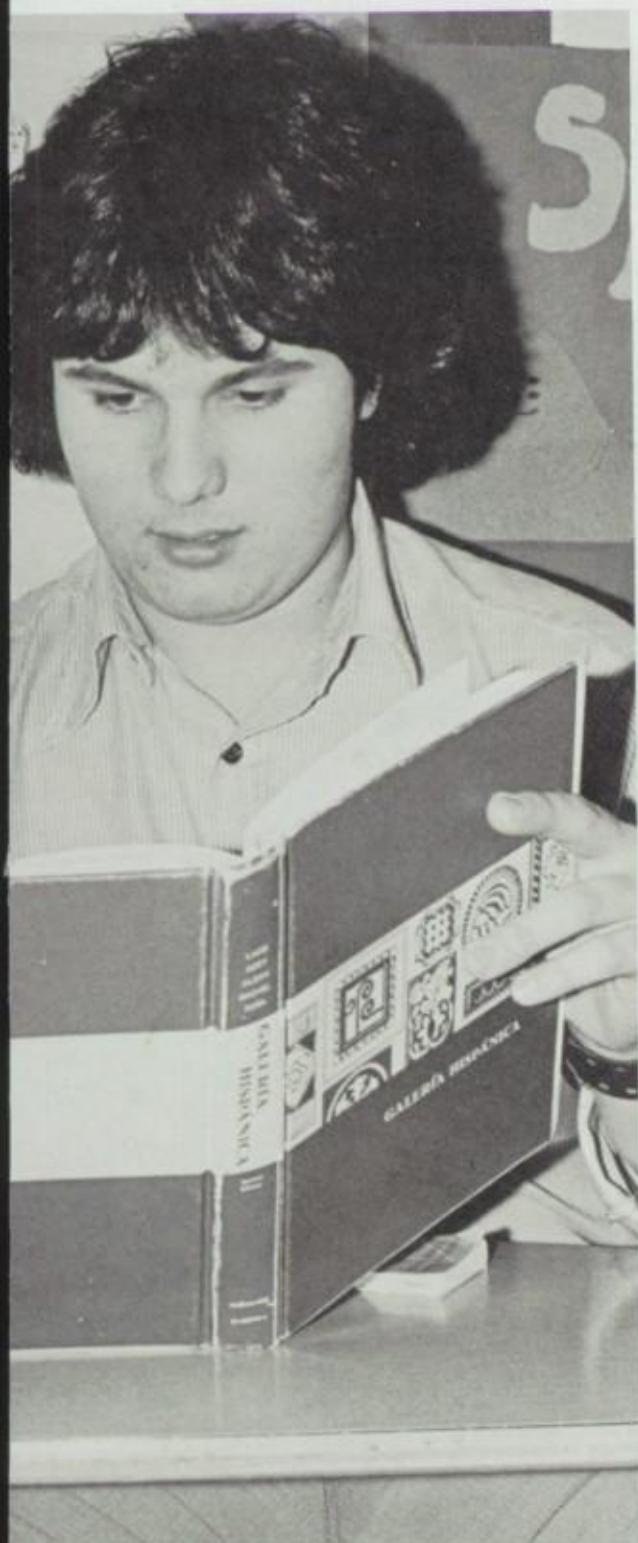

"Mr. Amen has been one of our most outstanding teachers, and we wish him the very best in his retirement years," expressed Mr. Glenn Hill, principal.

Enrollment grows

"Industrial education is great, but we need more teachers to look after us."

Mark Shirts, sophomore

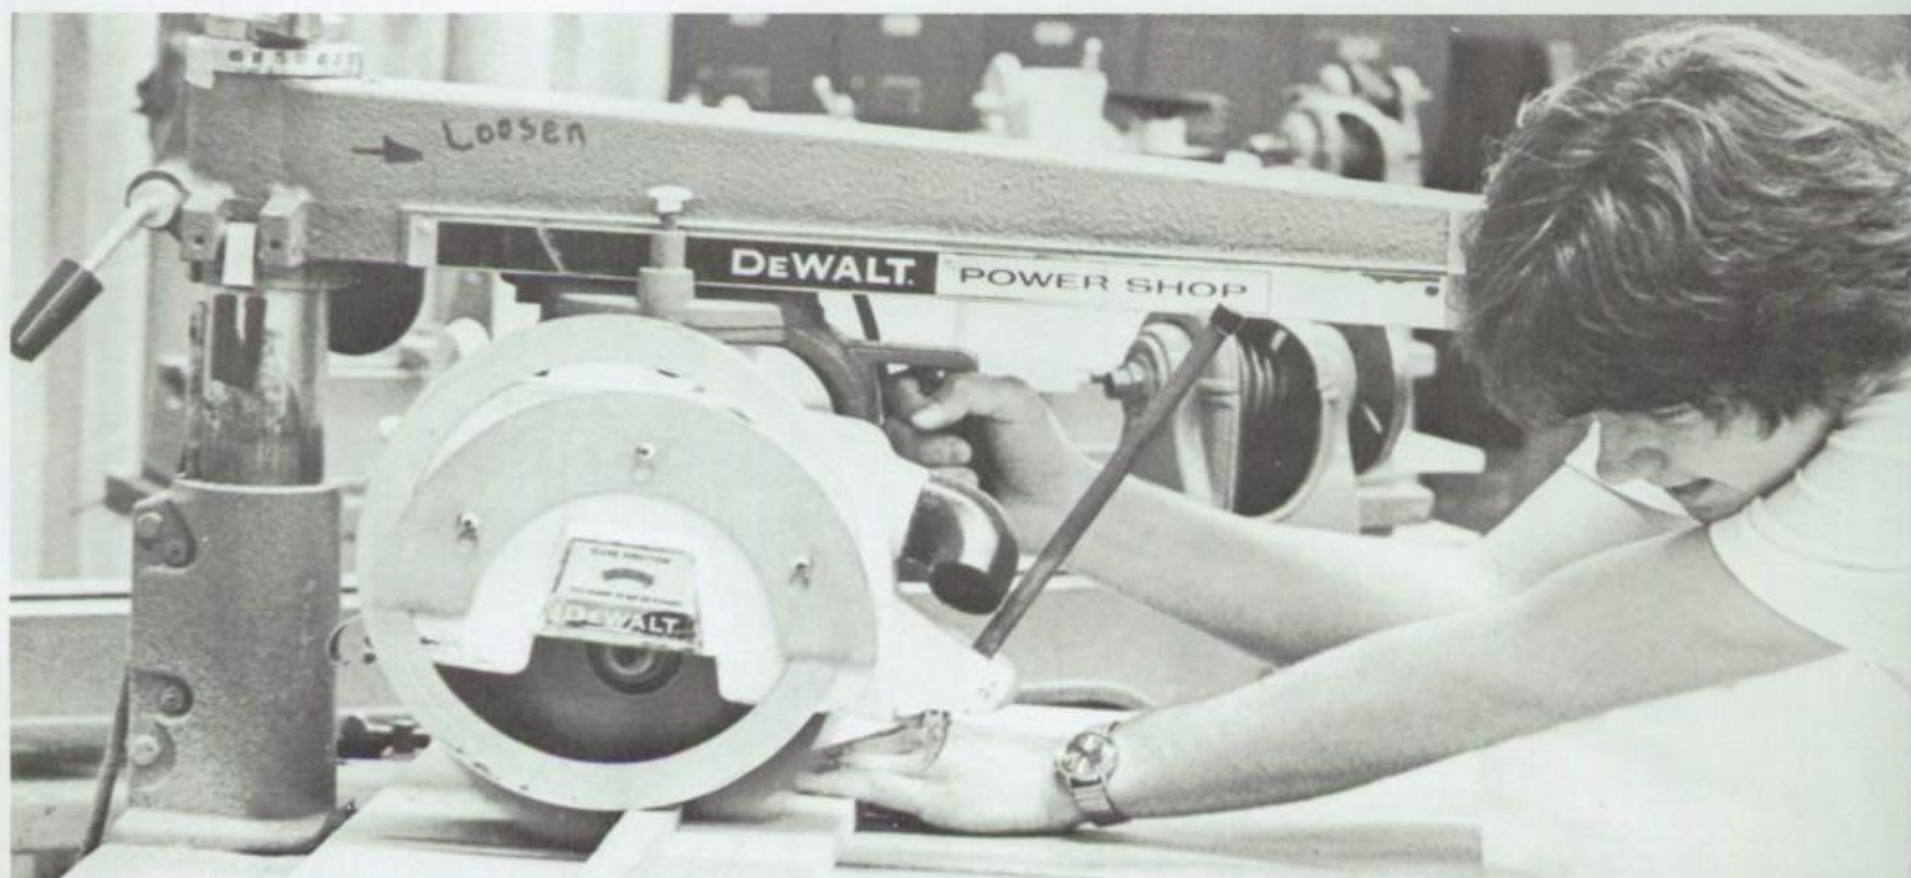

Effective the last teaching day of the '75-'76 school year, home economics teacher and department chairperson Mrs. Vera Cress, at Cleveland for 10 years, announced she would be taking a leave of absence for an undetermined length of time. "Mrs. Cress was a very impressive teacher, who provided a great deal of leadership," praised Principal Glenn Hill.

"This year the home economics and industrial education enrollment went up compared to the decrease in overall school enrollment," commented department chairpersons Cress and Mr. George McElmury.

"A new 'Single Survival' course taught by Mrs. Barbara Frey, of the home economics department, was very successful," related Cress. "'Single survival,' a semester course, was consumer oriented to prepare students for their futures," revealed Frey.

"The electronics classes were popular this year. Students especially liked making amplifiers, tape decks, and speaker enclosures," said McElmury, teacher of the course.

Metal class enrollment increased dramatically, according to industrial education figures. New equipment in the area will include air grinders and air drills.

"We were very proud of two outstanding students, seniors Jeff Wilson and Scott Fitzpatrick, who placed second and fourth, respectively, in a City-wide math contest," commented Jackson.

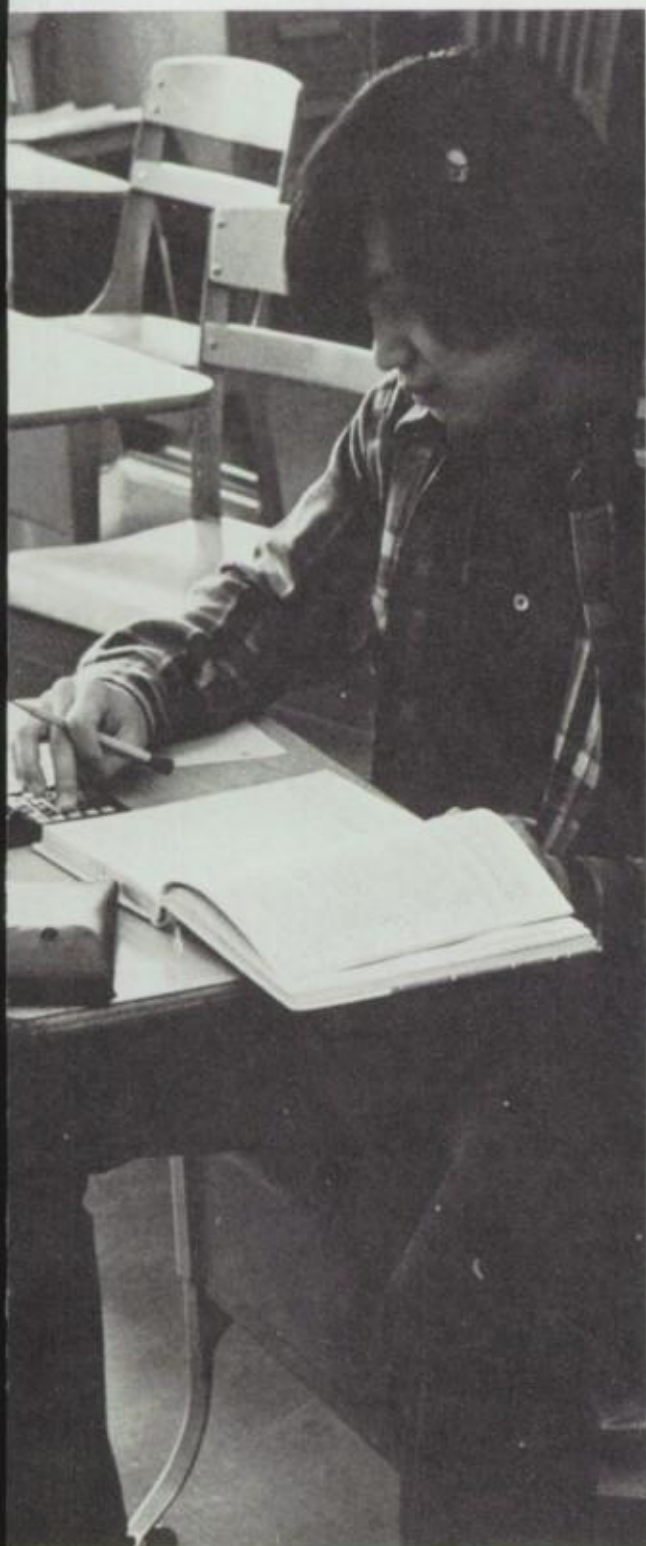

In 1976-77, the math department plans to add a freshman exploration course, which will consist of investigative and computative kinds of math. Also, the Freshman class of 1980 will have to pass a newly devised "threshold exam," which tests students for minimum math competencies.

Musicians master difficult work

"Music gives you a chance to express yourself."

Karen Headley,
Instrumentalist

The Stage Band, Concert Band and Orchestra, all under the supervision of instrumental director Mr. Robert Kerns, spent a busy year with performances at the Harvest Festival and Springtasia, Cleveland's annual fall and spring music productions.

The Concert Band also played as a marching band for the Rose Festival in June, and the Orchestra was featured in the spring musical, "Guys and Dolls."

"The instrumentalists had difficult music, but there were many good musicians this year," related the director.

The new instruments added to the department included drums coronets and trumpets.

Vocal music

Appear often

"Chorus has broadened my knowledge of famous musical pieces and composers."

Laurie Grimes,
Junior Choir

The vocal music department was kept unusually busy this year due to its participation in various performances concerning the celebration of the Bicentennial.

"The A Cappella Choir, composed of juniors and seniors, was extremely fortunate to have been asked to perform with the Oregon Symphony in a Bicentennial production at the Civic Auditorium in January," exclaimed Mr. E. Bruce Johnson, choral director. "It proved to be a new and rewarding experience."

Besides participating in the annual Harvest Music Festival in November, the Christmas program in December and Springtasia in May, A Cappella, along with the Junior and Freshman choirs performed Schubert's "Mass in G" in early April. The A Cappella Choir also sang in Cleveland's class of '76 graduation ceremony.

In addition to visiting grade schools surrounding the Cleveland area, A Cappella joined the Clevelandaires to give a performance downtown during the holidays.

"Most of our musical numbers this year were patriotic to fit in with the Bicentennial. I was most pleased with the A Cappella Choir as it proved to contain a tremendously outstanding male section," praised Johnson.

P.E., health

Activity essential

"Drivers education improved my ability to recognize potential driving hazards."

Jenny Gray,
Sophomore

The physical education department offerings were re-structured this year after the previous experimental elective program failed to satisfy both teachers and students. "The experiment was a waste of time. We hope to arouse interest by re-emphasizing life-time sports and activities and by stressing the importance of physical fitness. It is hoped that students will be encouraged to go on to the advanced program," explained Mrs. Margaret Gordon, department chairperson.

This year health and p.e. went back to a full year each, instead of one and a half years of p.e. and a half year of health. "We are pleased with the change. A full year of health gives us time to cover more information and know the students better," related Mrs. Judy Dean, health teacher.

Health classes received information on smoking, drugs, alcohol, nutrition, mental health and sex education.

Voters approve new lab facilities

"Chemistry is a challenge, but the experiments are fun."

Lynda Finley
Junior

The science department profited greatly from the passage of the School District levy this year as it entitled the department to money for remodeling years old science facilities.

"With our present equipment, safety is our main concern. We are elated with the new levy and remodeling will begin in February, 1977," explained Mr. Harold Trautman, department chairperson.

"I was pleased to hear that the School Board could see the need for work to be done here at Cleveland," said Principal Glenn E. Hill. "We have had to restrict many experiments in the science department because of our lack of facilities."

The science department gained a new teacher, Mr. Jeff Pittman, as enrollment in science classes continued to rise. "The students seem to enjoy the many courses we have to offer," continued Trautman.

"I was very pleased with this year although we do need to make some changes," related Mrs. Joan Risberg, social studies department chairperson.

The social studies department planned to change its curriculum next year by adding a self-awareness class for freshmen to help meet half of the personal finance requirement, and a class to deal with field experience in social services.

"This will be a worthwhile program since trained students will be out giving time on their own," explained Risberg.

A new teacher, Mr. James Harrison taught classes in both English and social studies. He wrote and had published a book of poetry, CHARRED WOOD: COLLECTION OF POEMS.

Two courses, "Today's World" and "Minority Groups" remain at the top of the list for attracting students.

"We try to provide a variety of courses, but it's difficult as the teachers must then have more preparations," Risberg related.

Two new courses were added, citizen education and personal finance. "For next year, we are considering mainstreaming, which is placing more special education students in regular classes," commented Morene.

The "Option" offered a broad range of classes in science, health, social studies and many basic mini skills in reading, writing, and mathematics in addition to the classes offered last year.

Profits from the machines in the Student Commons were used to supplement the student body budget for the 1975-76 school year. "Half of our income will be used to buy new machines for next year," explained Miss Martha Ireland, activities director.

Mrs. Gladys Reed, cafeteria manager, expects a new vent and fan in the cafeteria for next year. "We tried to keep variety in our food selection, without raising prices," expressed Mrs. Reed.

'Energetic group' praised

"Art staff is one of the best things I am involved in at Cleveland. I urge anyone interested in art to join."

Jonell Kidd,
Junior

"The Art staff was a creative and energetic group this year," praised Mr. Norman Eng, art teacher and staff adviser. Each year a limited number of students are selected for Art staff to do publicity work for the school. This year there were seven seniors and six juniors who worked on various projects, including designing the set for "Guys and Dolls," the spring musical and Rose Festival.

At year's end, the Art staff treated themselves to a banquet at the Benson Hotel honoring its members. "We are losing some of the best senior art students we have had in many years, and they will be hard to replace," noted Eng.

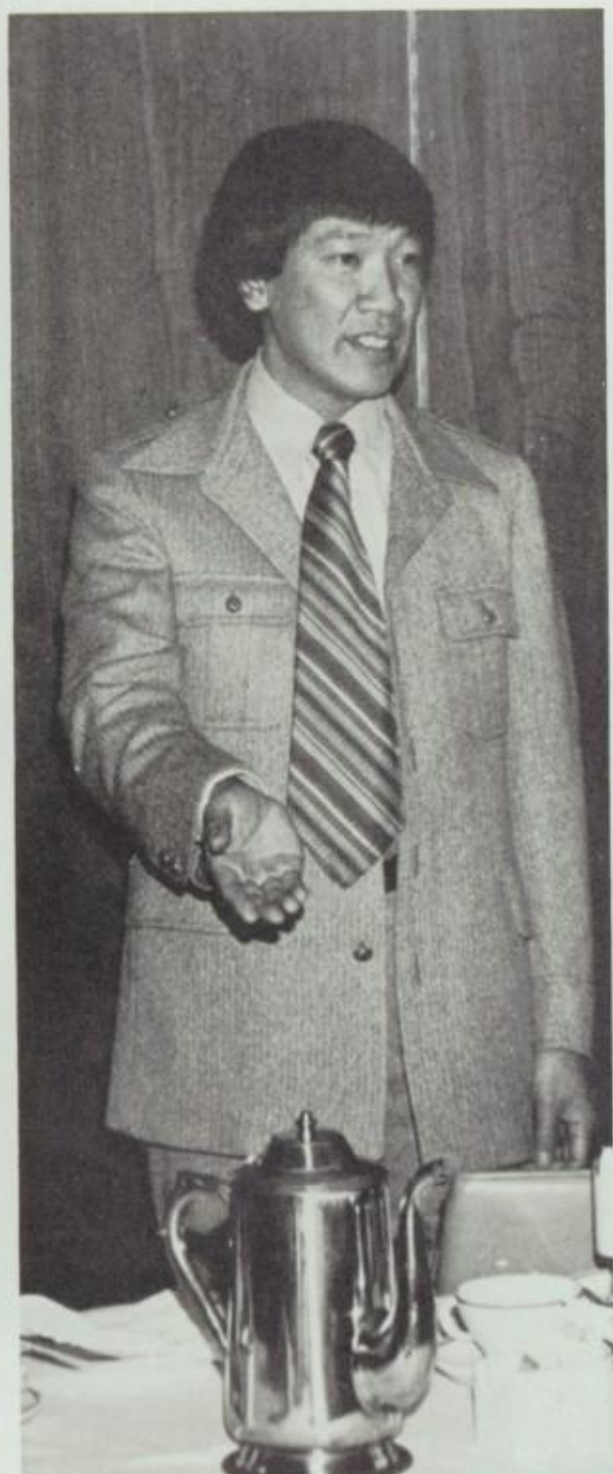

Art staff sponsored a night club act, with singers, and a magician, called "Zenith Theater," at "Phantasmagoria," a variety night in October. Also, the Art staff cleaned the "hill" and face-painted individuals as money-raising activities.

LEGEND

Inaugurates new style

"I think that the LEGEND is a first rate yearbook."

Vikki Houf,
Sophomore

A yearbook may be good and well received by its readers, but if a yearbook is bad and disliked by a student body, suddenly its creators are monsters! "Fortunately, Cleveland, in recent times, has never had a terrible book; in fact, it has received national honors every year since adviser Jan Watt came here. For this and the competent LEGEND staffs who work hard, our student body should be grateful," believes Rich Hildreth, 1976 editor.

"Our book delivered a Bicentennial message but we tried not to overemphasize it. We tried some new ideas, too, with a different, magazine-type headline style. Also, we're hopeful the section dividers, done in special effects, will be appreciated by our readers," he continued.

As on all staffs, previous and future, ups and downs and fun all occur plus missed deadlines and much pressure. "One of our problems was unity, but the staff worked more and more together, and we believe this book will be enjoyable," Hildreth said. "Special thanks go to Jan, our adviser; Marcia Maring, business manager; Angela Rekart, all-around good guy; and Joyce Dean, page design editor, who all did a great job," he praised.

Lack of money limits issues to 11

"Our school newspaper is well written and keeps Cleveland informed."

Maigen Erske,
sophomore

Two newspaper editors may seem a bit unusual, but this year's TOMAHAWK staff differed from any other in recent history by having a fall and spring editor lead the young staff.

"The staff seemed to adjust to the switch from Jeff Clark in the fall to Janet MacLaren in the spring very well and with little confusion," according to Miss Jan Watt, adviser.

Due to financial woes, the staff was only able to publish 11 issues instead of the planned 14.

"We were really disappointed that our advertising revenue couldn't overcome our budget cuts, but we were very appreciative that the student body could give us some money to finish out the year," noted MacLaren.

In April and May, the staff published two 12 page papers. "Without the help of a few 'old reliables,' the paper wouldn't have been so successful," explained Clark. Eric Slades' words of wisdom were always appreciated along with Lauren Dillard's, our photo editor, timely anecdotes. And who could forget Jenny Levich? ("I need that sketch by 18th mod, okay, Jenny?") "It was a good year, and we thank everyone," concluded the editors.

Baccalaureate, Commencement

321 graduate

Amidst joy, tears, memories and hopes for success, the bicentennial class
bid good-bye.

The Baccalaureate service, held Sunday, May 23, at the Grotto (Sanctuary of Sorrowful Mother) and Commencement exercises in the Civic Auditorium on Saturday, May 29, marked the final appearances of 321 graduates of Grover Cleveland High School's bicentennial class of 1976.

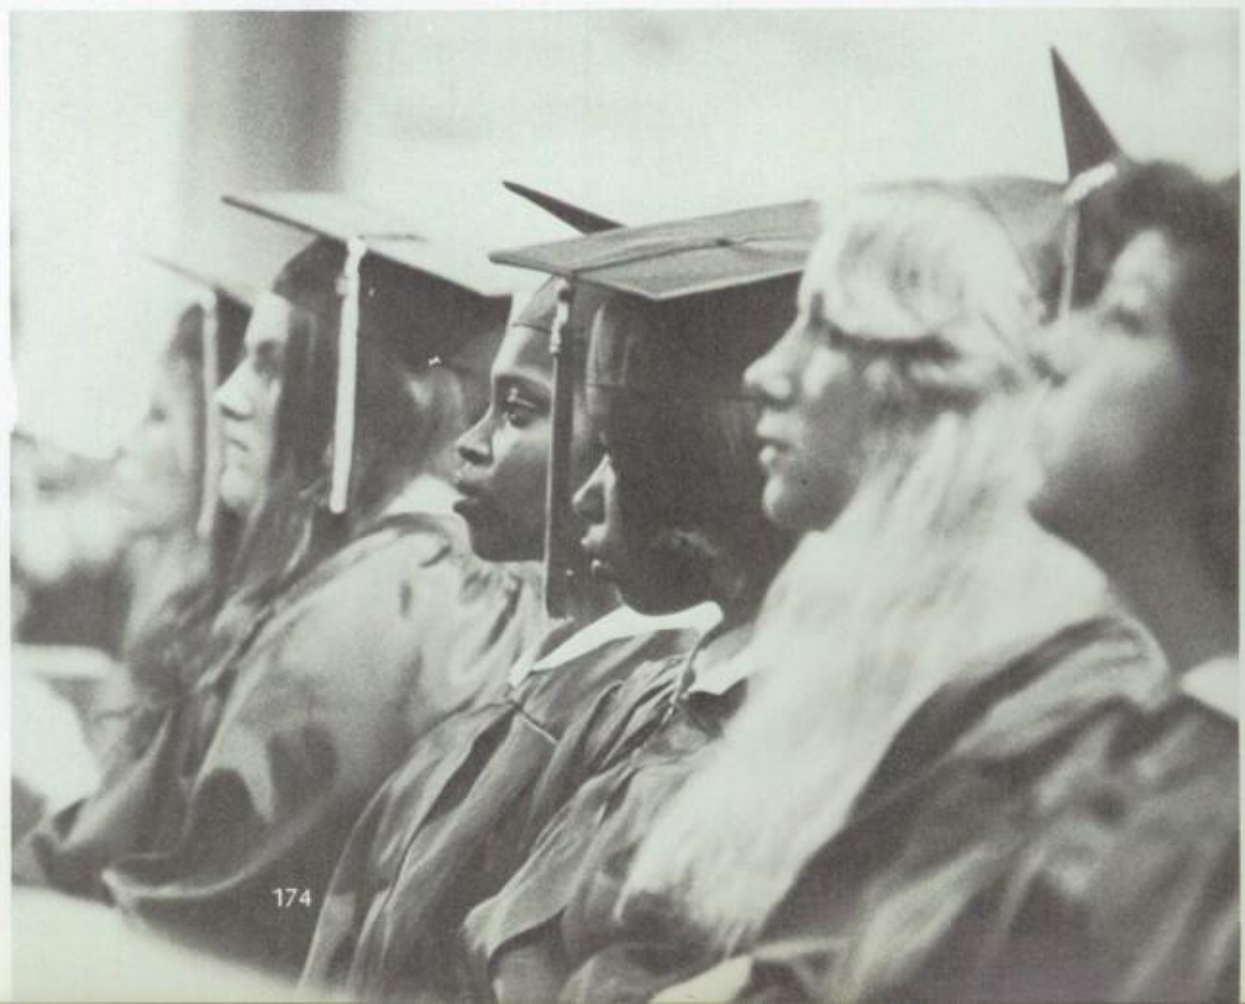

Terri Lenon presented the scripture reading and Tom Newsom read poetry at Baccalaureate, which had to be indoors due to the weather. Father Nicholas Norusis of the Grotto gave the invocation, Dr. Randy Marshall of the Baptist Seminary, delivered the main address and Principal Glenn E. Hill, bishop of the Church of Jesus Christ of the Latter Day Saints presented the benediction.

Graduation addresses included Chuck Harwood, speaking on the class motto "Spirit of 76," and Cindi Owens, who spoke on "The Dawning of New Horizons," the Senior class theme.

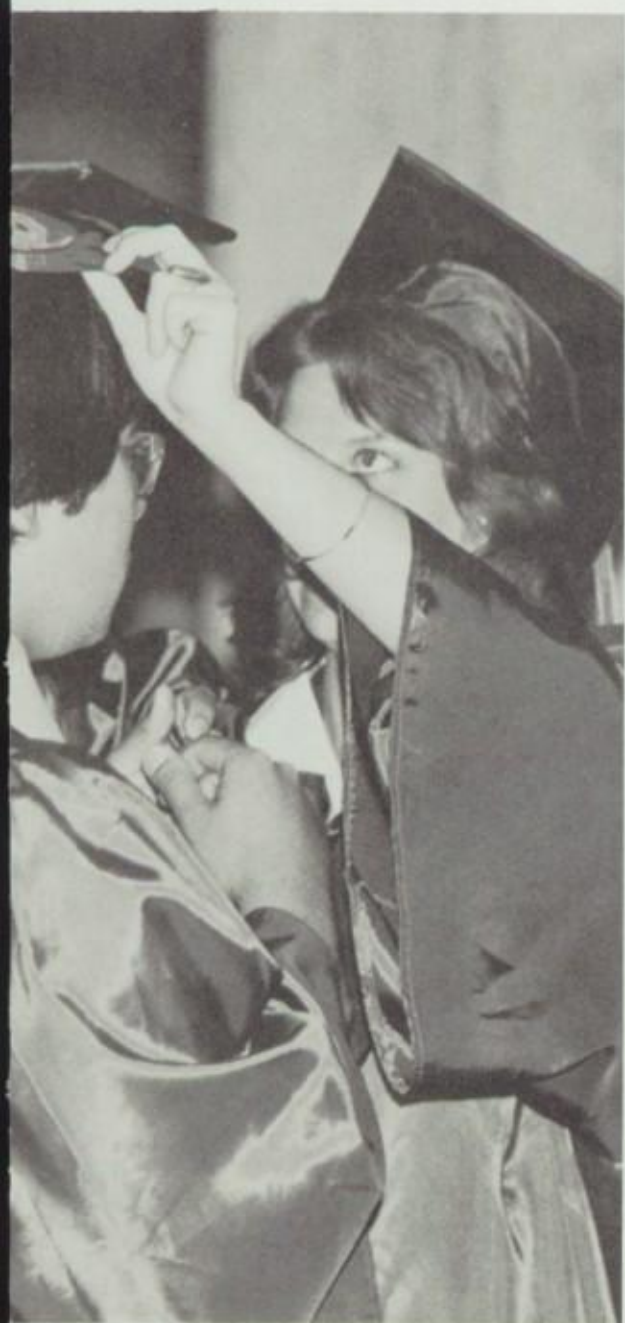

Extending congratulations for the Board of Education was Mrs. Beverly Anne York. The orchestra, A Cappella choir and Clevelandaires performed for the guests during the two hour ceremony.

Senior class

Sponsors variety show

"In the four years
I've been here,
I think our class has been the most active and enthusiastic."

Amy White,
delegate

"Senior Class Week, in April, was our biggest cabinet effort of the year," explained Senior Class President Sue Almand, who was very pleased with the results.

The week began with the selection of the Rose Festival Princess, followed by a pie eating contest in the cafeteria and a Senior variety show similar to the February all-school Talent Show. Throughout the year, the class co-sponsored a Valentine's Day dance with the underclassmen. "The dance wasn't very successful although the people who went enjoyed themselves," Almand commented. Other Senior activities included a "jail" at "Phantasmagoria", a carnival-like activity, which netted the class an $80 profit. The Senior Prom, on April 24 at Masonic Temple, was the main Bicentennial event of the year, since the guests were greeted and announced by "Uncle Sam".

"The class cabinet was basically a good one, but we had problems pulling together. It seemed we were all just too busy," Almand related. "Towards the end of the year, though, we started working more as a unit, which certainly helped."

Junior class

Singles dance popular

"I'm pleased with the improved effort of our class. It shows in the success of our fund raising activities."

Wendi Walton,
junior

"The year was very successful and well organized. Our activities ran smoothly with the combined help of the cabinet and interested class members," explained Sue Higgins, Junior class president.

Combined profits from the money raising activities brought in over $600. The activities included selling class cards, helium balloons, and baked goods, sponsoring an after game dance, the "Gootmocker Single", and cleaning the Student Commons. The "Gootmocker Single" was the highlight of the year, and raised over $200. "The cabinet put a lot of effort into Junior Class Week, and it paid off at the dance," commented Higgins. "All in all, I felt this year has been the most profitable and rewarding yet. One example of our class unity was the fact that we never lost a spirit competition in any pep assembly in our three years here," summed up Higgins.

Sophomore class

Pies popular

"I enjoyed my sophomore year, and I hope the next two years will be as good."

Susan Chrisman

"Our year got off to a great start and continued that way until June," remarked Sophomore class President Mary Paeth.

"Our class spirit was pretty consistent, and we had excellent participation in all of our activities," Paeth praised.

The Sophomore cabinet began its term sponsoring one activity a month to earn money. The top money maker was a paper drive, which grossed $119. Other activities included a box lunch social, a carnation sale and a collection of toys for the Oregon Mentally Retarded Home.

Sophomore Class Week March 29-April 2 found an activity for each day of the week including a pie-in-the-face fund raising drive. Billy Ellis and Leslie Lloyd were the victims of this follie. They were the recipients of three chocolate cream pies during a class assembly on March 30. "It was a success since we raised $38 for our treasury," related Peter Frost, organizer of the event.

Freshman class
Wins $25 prize

"Our officers did their best to make the Freshman class something to be proud of."

April Brunson

As is important to all Freshman classes, the class of 1979 kicked off its year with plans to build its treasury. Traditional bake sales and car washes raised about $40 and an original idea, making and selling candy Christmas wreaths, turned out to be a "flop," according to class delegate Lisa Exley. "It took so much time to make the wreaths that we couldn't produce enough of them to make a profit."

Another disappointment for the young cabinet was the Valentine's Day dance, which the Frosh sponsored with the Senior and Sophomore classes. "It sounded like a good idea, but very few people came so we all lost money," explained class delegate Debby Fredericks.

A successful fund raising project for the class was selling tickets to the PTA-sponsored Bicentennial Pancake Breakfast. The class which sold the most tickets earned a prize of $25 and the Frosh "worked hard to win," praised Amy Feller, Freshman class president. "Our cabinet was a good one."

Costs climb

Despite the rising inflation, businesses support willingly

Each year the LEGEND business staff is given the responsibility for raising enough money to produce the same quality yearbook for which Cleveland has become noted. Costs for the yearbook climb each year as production charges increase and estimates for the 1976 volume hit $15,000.

"Despite inflation, business' seemed to be very willing to support the LEGEND," related Marcia Maring, business manager, "and this year the staff sold more advertisements than anticipated, which made money less of a problem."

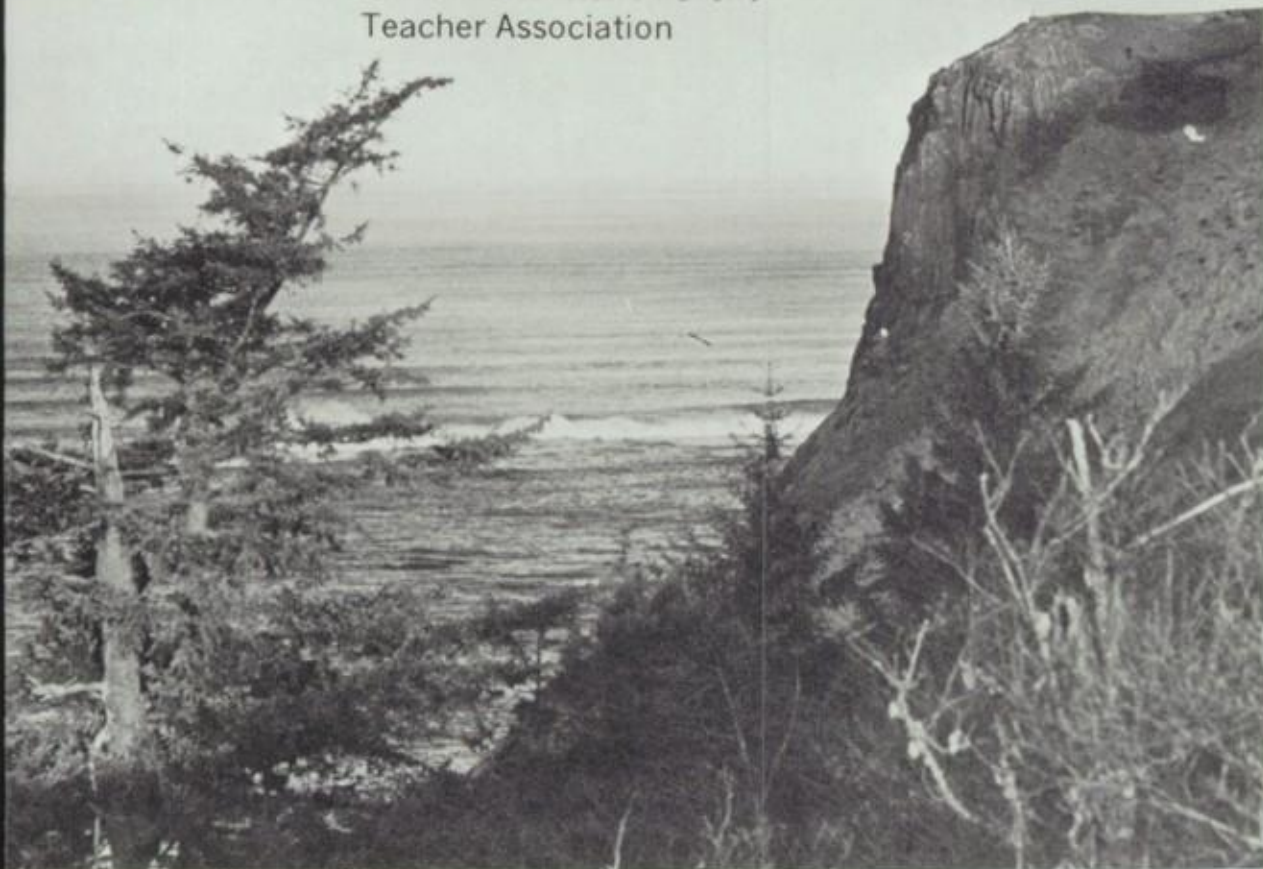

The entire LEGEND staff was included in fund raising activities. "Candy sales, booster sales, the donkey basketball game and the sale of the book itself were the key factors to our success," explained Maring.

"We really appreciated the photographers for helping the ad staff please the businessmen and the students," related Maring.

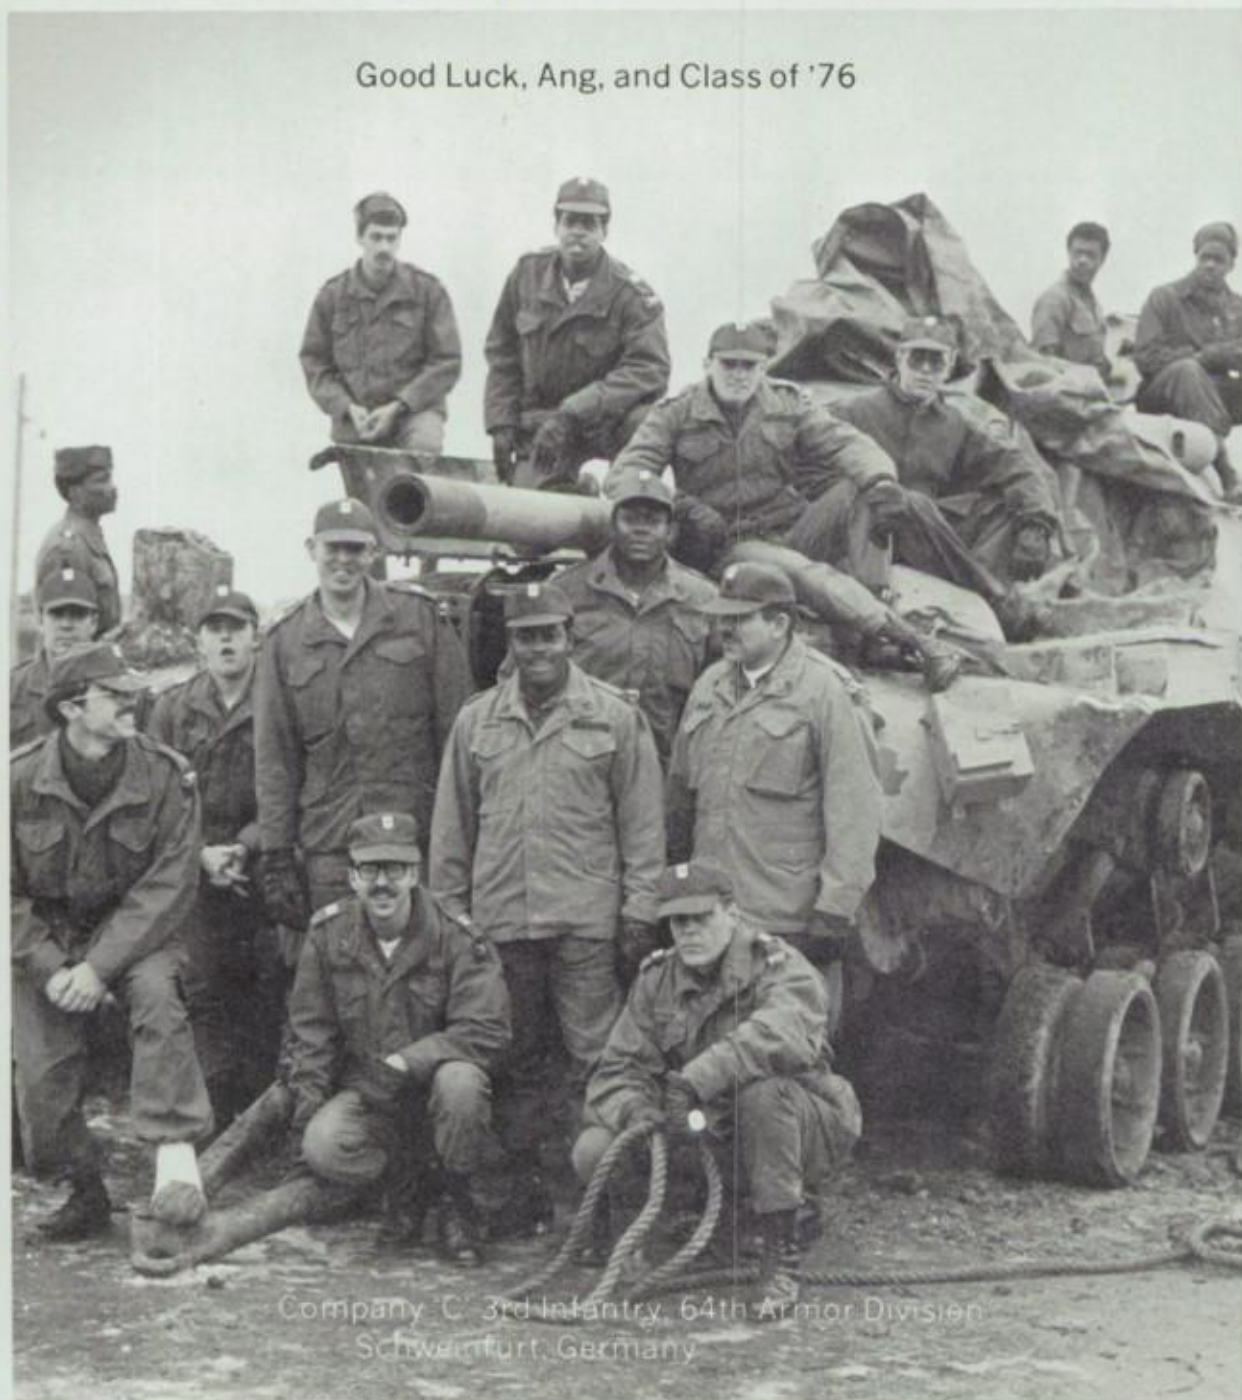

Best wishes to all students!

Tom: Show me your WJP Rick
 Speech

Dear Grewson
 Newson,
 I'll always remember that last year in the math lab. The fun and seriousness we shared. Thanks for the memories. Never forget you David June '76"

Tom,
 You're the greatest!
 And always will be! Luck in college. And all you do. I hope you have many friends
 you deserve them
 all! Honest.
 Friends always Cheryl
 Ba

I'm not Gary Pledger
 At having to sign in the back of the book but I guess that it will have to do HAVE A GOOD LIFE IF NOT A HAPPY DRUNK ONE!
 KEEP IN TOUCH
 I am Cheryl

To Tom my old drinking buddy
 Cheryl
